GRILL 'SOUL MATE' IN MYSTERY MURDER!

PLEDGE $16,075 TO START ADVERTISING FUND

EVERYONE TO INVEST IN GLENDALE FUTURE

Greater City Banquet at Oakmont Country Club Complete Success

The sum of $16,075 pledged as the start of the campaign to raise an advertising fund for Glendale!

That was the first and most impressive feature of the banquet that was given last night at the Oakmont Country Club by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, when the plans that had been made for raising a fund of $50,000 to advertise the city were explained by M. Walters, chairman of the ways and means committee of the organization, to a gathering representative of every element in the city's industrial and professional life.

Little time was taken up in talk. The project, as explained by Mr. Walters, was "sold" to every man present, men who know the vital necessity of advertising in the life of any business or any community, and the response was quick and generous.

City Gives $5000
V. B. Stone, city manager, stirred the enthusiasm of the guests at the banquet when he announced the city's contribution of $5000, stating that the City Council had determined to spend promptly all of their appropriation through the proposed advertising campaign, keeping back only enough to meet the special calls that may be made on the city's funds during the year.

The pledges started at $500, with two $600 bids for variety, a $300 pledge, a number of $250, of $100, of $50 and $25 coming in quickly in response to the presentation of the advantages that will accrue to Glendale as a result of the coming campaign.

Good Fellowship
The spirit of harmonious co-operation and good fellowship was one of the most striking features of the banquet and the ensuing campaign for contributions to the

Continue Conspiracy Case Against Stokes

CHICAGO, April 15.—The case of W. E. D. Stokes, New York hotel owner and turfman, indicted for conspiracy to defame the name of his wife, Helen Elwood Stokes, was called today before Judge Wells M. Cook, along with that of Attorney Daniel F. Nugent, Joseph Bruner and four others similarly indicted. A continuance was taken until tomorrow, at which time it will be decided whether or not the parties will go to trial this month.

Macdonald's Address On Treaty Is Praised

LONDON, April 15.—Influential newspapers today praised Premier Ramsay Macdonald's speech at the opening of the Anglo-Russian treaty conference for its frankness and sincerity, warning that there must be plain dealing during the negotiations.

Two Riders Meet Death When Thrown From Horses

REDDING, April 15.—Within the past twenty-four hours, two riders, thrown by their steeds, have been killed in Shasta county.

Robert L. Graham, superintendent of the Shasta May Blossom mine at Bully Hill, was found dead on a mountain trail two miles from camp today when his riderless horse returned resulting in a search by his friends.

Soldier Bonus Is Given Clear Track Over Tax Measure

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Granted priority over tax reduction legislation, the soldiers' bonus bill was thrown into the Senate hopper today with every indication that it would be passed before Saturday.

A poll of the upper chamber indicated that there will not be more than twenty votes against the bill, although a possible presidential vote still hangs in the offing.

The chief fight on the bill centers around the move of Democrats to throw out the paid-up insurance provisions and provide straight cash payments for the veterans.

CLAIMS PLOT BY BIG OIL INTERESTS

Los Angeles Man Offers Sensational Testimony At Senate Probe

By KENNETH CLARK
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—A deal was made previous to the nomination of the late Warren G. Harding in the 1920 Republican convention to make Albert B. Fall secretary of interior, H. W. Ballard of Los Angeles, told the Senate public lands committee today. Ballard said he was a friend of the late Jake Hamon.

The offer was advanced by oil interests who were promised a lease to Teapot Dome, Ballard said.

Claims Conspiracy
"Do you mean to charge," asked Stanfield, Republican, of Oregon, "that there was a conspiracy at Chicago to give Teapot Dome to the oil interests?"

"Certainly I do," Teapot Dome was the dominant question at Chicago," replied Ballard.

Stanfield then demanded that Ballard give the names of "three reputable men who will bear out your testimony."

"If you will call the editor of the Los Angeles Times, Harry Chandler, he will tell you the same story," said Ballard. "There is also a man who has been before your committee, Mr. Doheny; and then Mr. Hearst, if he would only tell the story."

May Be Summoned
"Do they know your conversation with Hamon?" asked Stanfield.

"No, but they are familiar with the general situation."

After the committee adjourned for the day Senator Stanfield said:

"Before I issue the subpoenas I want to look over the transcript of Ballard's testimony to see whether we can give credence to it. I shall then communicate with Mr. Hearst and Mr. Chandler, informing them of Ballard's testimony. If they inform me that they know something of Ballard's alleged story of a conspiracy at the 1920 convention, I shall at once have subpoenas issued for them."

KILL FIVE SOLDIERS

HONOLULU, April 15.—Five soldiers were killed when an army truck skidded and overturned today on Schofield road near Wai-alua.

CONGRESS TO CALL HAND OF JAPAN

Senate to Endorse Action Of House by Big Vote, Predicted

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Congress today accepted the challenge of Japan on the immigration question. The Senate passed by an overwhelming majority the Japanese exclusion provision of the new immigration law, forbidding by law the entrance of Japanese immigrants into the United States or its possessions. As the House already has approved the exclusion act, the matter now goes up to President Coolidge for approval or veto.

By H. K. REYNOLDS
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Its fighting spirit aroused, Congress prepared today to call Japan's hand by passing the exclusion act which erects an impenetrable barrier to the future entrance of Japanese immigrants into the United States and possessions.

The temper of the Senate became so plain today that the recall of Masano Hanihara, the Japanese ambassador, looms as a possible sequel to the passage of the exclusion legislation.

The House already has acted by a vote of more than four to one in favor of excluding Japanese by statute.

The Senate, angry and determined, will endorse the House's action by an even larger vote, it appeared today.

Japan Will Propose Conference Over Measure

TOKIO, April 15.—Japan will protest and call upon the United States to submit the matter to the immigration bill, calling for joint high commissioner conference, provided the Senate passes Japanese exclusion, and President Coolidge approves it.

This was learned late this afternoon while officials were generally expressing confidence that passage of the measure was an impossibility. A statement of Japan's attitude was expected to be forthcoming shortly.

Juvenile Cases Hang On Court's Decision

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—An issue of great importance will be passed upon this week by the California Supreme court in session here, with Chief Justice Louis W. Myers presiding and newly appointed Justice John W. Shenk on the bench, when that body is called upon to decide whether or not to issue habeas corpus writ for Paul Daedler, 14-year-old Pasadena boy, sentenced to reform school for the murder of a child. It being alleged that he did not have a jury trial to which he was entitled. Hundreds of similar cases hinge on the decision whether or not trial by jury is mandatory for juveniles.

Charges Cruelty In Suit to Win Freedom

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—John W. Eberle, member of the undertaking firm of Reynolds and Eberle, Pasadena, is defendant in an amended complaint for divorce filed today by Jessie M. Eberle. She cites various instances of alleged cruelty, claiming that she had to charge all household purchases at stores because he refused to give her money. Bill collectors then worried her, she declares. Eberle became angry when she failed to keep the children quiet to permit him to sleep after 8 o'clock in the mornings, she complains.

Use Thermos Bottle As Hootch Carrier; Lands In Jail Cell

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—"This is the tale of a thermos bottle full of the tea that cheers and three college boys full of too many cheers.

Louis Bartlett was found drunk on a street car late last night by University station police. His two companions were James and Sterling Ennell.

"Who has the liquor?" asked the cop. "I have," said Sterling, displaying the thermos bottle. "You're charged with possession," was the rejoinder.

"Where did you get it?" the cop further inquired. "I swiped it from another party," replied James. "You are charged with petty larceny," was the policeman's verdict.

And all three went to jail happy enough last night, perhaps, but not so happy today.

REALTORMAY BE MURDER VICTIM

Grant McCartney, Accused In Attack on Wife, Slain, Is Theory Advanced

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—A report that Grant McCartney, missing realty dealer, accused of a brutal attack upon his wife, had been murdered and his body secreted near Beverly inn, caused deputy sheriffs to start a search for the body today.

A man and woman were reported under arrest at San Francisco in connection with the rumored slaying of McCartney.

In their investigation that McCartney may have been slain, police and deputy sheriffs admitted they were working more or less on assumption.

Arrest Looms
Police Detective Bean stated he had been informed of a conversation over the long distance telephone between a man in San Francisco and a woman, apparently the man's wife, in Los Angeles. In the conversation the man was overheard to say, according to Bean's information:

"You had better get up here, quick. The coppers are liable to find the body."

Bean said he had asked the San Francisco police to arrest the man who had telephoned from that city.

THAW'S ACTS IN ASYLUM RELATED

Chases Pet Rabbits About His Room, Is Testimony Given by Alienist

By GEORGE T. HOOK
For Southland News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, April 15.—New and intimate details of Harry K. Thaw's conduct in a Pennsylvania asylum—especially his predilection for his rabbits "Tweedledum" and "Tootsie" were revealed today at the trial at which he is endeavoring to prove his sanity before a jury.

Thaw, it was added from a record of the asylum read by Dr. Charles K. Mills, alienist, had a habit of taking the two rabbits to his room and "chasing them around in a playful manner."

It came to such a pass, it developed, that Thaw was asked to remove the pets so as not to disturb the other inmates and he did remove them.

Thaw is trying to prove his sanity after an incarceration of seven years in the Pennsylvania hospital for mental and nervous diseases.

Ex-Wife Opposes

After living in different worlds for the last ten years, Thaw and Evelyn Nesbit met today in court.

When Thaw first was tried for the murder of Stanford White in New York, Evelyn Nesbit testified in his behalf. Now Miss Nesbit is determined to go on the stand, if necessary, and tell all she knows about Thaw's past in an effort to prevent him from winning his freedom and his huge estate, which she declares he will dissipate and thus deprive her 14-year-old son—Russell William Thaw—of his paternal rights.

Two Face Charge of Violating Dry Laws

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—John Wright is in wrong with the Wright act. He and Ernest Smith, both of 4042 1/2 Whittier boulevard, were lodged in the county jail here last night by Detective Keller of the dry squad. They are charged with possessing liquor.

Great Britain Ready To Back Dawes' Plan

LONDON, April 15.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that Great Britain is prepared to support the Dawes reparations plan in its entirety, "provided the other interested nations do likewise."

LATEST NEWS

UNEMPLOYMENT IN U. S. AT MINIMUM

WASHINGTON, April 15.—There is little or no unemployment in the United States, Secretary of Labor Davis reported to the cabinet today. Davis reported slight disturbances in the coal mining industry.

WOOD OPPOSES FILIPINO FREEDOM

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Filipinos are not yet prepared for independence and to grant them their freedom now would be "a heartless betrayal of our trust" and "turn 12,000,000 people over to strife and disorder in the near future," Governor General Leonard Wood today informed Secretary of War Weeks in a long cablegram reporting on conditions in the islands.

YOUTHFUL SLAYER ESCAPES GALLOWS

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—The life of William A. Hard, 17-year-old Los Angeles boy, sentenced to die on the gallows for the murder of Fred Skeen, was saved today when Governor Richardson commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment in San Quentin penitentiary.

HELD ON L. A. MAIL THEFT CHARGE

CLEVELAND, April 15.—Joe Berts, alias J. B. Hartley, was arrested by federal authorities here today on warrants charging him with participation in mail robberies at Los Angeles March 3 and November 3, 1921, in which approximately $200,000 was secured.

Where All Can Read It

MISS EDNA FARNER, second grade teacher, pointing at new school zone signs placed in middle of street, so motorists can observe it.

Following the death of a little school girl, Police Chief John D. Fraser of this city gave his attention to solving the problem of motorists speeding past schools. It was brought out at the hearing that the death car driver did not see the small wooden sign along the edge of the street.

Chief Fraser has placed signs similar to that pictured here in the middle of the street at the edge of all school zones. It works well, according to Miss Edna Farnar, second grade teacher, who aids the little tots in crossing the street by doing volunteer police duty.

MOVIE STAR MUST TELL DETAILS

Keyes Summons Attorneys To Explain Reason for Actress' Absence

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—District Attorney Asa Keyes today demanded that Mabel Normand call a halt to her tour of the middle west and return here immediately to appear as a witness in the trial of Horace Greer, her chauffeur, charged with shooting Courtland Dines, Denver sportsman, last New Year's night, at a party attended by Miss Normand and Edna Purviance, screen actresses.

Keyes announced that the actress' unexpected departure from here several weeks ago and her failure to return in time to appear as a witness in the case has compelled him to ask for a continuance of Greer's trial, scheduled to start Thursday.

Mabel Must Testify
"I won't go to trial unless Mabel Normand is here as a witness," Keyes said. He also notified attorneys for Miss Mabel Normand to appear at his office tomorrow when we will demand an explanation of her absence from this city.

Miss Normand is said to be in Detroit, Mich., now.

Fatalities of Cave-In Have Reached Fifteen

BARCELONA, April 15.—Fatalities from Sunday's subway cave-in reached fifteen today.

HUGE JEWEL ROBBERY IS BLOCKED

Get $5000 In Uncut Gems But Fail to Open Inner Door of Vault

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Yeggmen last night entered the Universal Lapidaries, in San Pedro street, through a skylight, used nitro-glycerine to blow open two small safes and escaped with $5000 worth of uncut gems, but failed to make a big haul when they could not open the inner door of a huge vault, according to police reports today.

Several charges of "soup" were exploded by the men in their efforts to open the large safe. Detectives who investigated the case declared the yeggmen had worked several hours on the "job."

Yeggmen also cut their way through the skylight of the Western Battery Manufacturing company in West Sixteenth street, blew open the safe and escaped with approximately $150, according to a report to the police.

SLAYING OF PHYSICIAN PUZZLING PROBES

Friend of Woman Who Confessed to Shooting Being Questioned

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—While Bert Webster, 45 years old, alleged "soul mate" of Mrs. Margaret Willis, middle aged, confessed slayer of Dr. Benjamin Baldwin, was being grilled today by District Attorney Asa Keyes, plans were set in motion for a speedy trial of the woman.

Other developments today were:

1 District Attorney Keyes placed the killing before the grand jury for investigation this afternoon. He called Mrs. Willis and Webster as the chief witnesses.

2 An autopsy was performed on the body of the dead doctor, in an effort to find the bullet in his brain that caused his death, or traces of liquor in his stomach. Mrs. Willis claims the doctor was intoxicated when he came to her apartment last Friday morning.

3 An inquest was to be held this afternoon.

4 That premeditated murder, with robbery as the motive, was his chief theory in the slaying investigation, and that the death penalty would be demanded if Mrs. Willis is brought to trial.

5 Announcement by Assistant Captain of Detectives Longuevan that a complaint charging Mrs. Willis with murder would probably be filed immediately after the inquest.

Severe Grilling
Webster was taken to the district attorney's office today for a severe grilling by District Attorney Keyes. In the grilling, Keyes sought to probe deeper in the theories of a love jealousy killing and a robbery motive in the slaying of the physician.

Keyes believes Webster, who knew Mrs. Willis as his "common law wife" for three years, may hold the key to the motive for the slaying, providing Mrs. Willis' story that she shot in defense of her honor is disproved.

Bankrupt Petitions Filed by Three Men

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Listing assets at $882 and liabilities at $20,134, voluntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed in the United States district court by G. J. Reed of Hollywood. BARCELONA, April 15.—General Rivera, head of the directory, arrived today to attend the closing of the national automobile exposition.

Find Flapper Bootlegger! Where? Oh, In Hollywood!

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—The "flapper bootlegger" is Hollywood's latest. Here's the story:

Mrs. Sam Jackson, pretty young matron of Elmwood avenue, was arrested early today after an officer of the vice squad had made a "buy" from her. Mrs. Jackson, who is the wife of a former bartender, was merely helping her husband, she told the officers.

Two cases of whiskey were found in her house, the officers reported. Mrs. Jackson was booked for violation of the Wright act.

Pets Chickens, Easier To Take Them, He Says

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—
Here's a new way to steal chickens: pet 'em.

At least such is said to have been the method used by Pearly Heffling, alleged chicken thief, who is said to have risen to great heights in the business. Heffling was arrested by deputy sheriffs and is said to have made a confession to the theft of over 200 chickens a month.

"I simply stroke the head of the chicken for a few moments," Heffling is said to have declared.
"Then I lift it down from the roost, lay it on its back and ruffle its feathers. The sensation pleases and pacifies the chicken and after a few moments of such treatment it is willing to be placed in a bag without letting the owners know a trespasser is in the henhouse."

Highway Over Summit To Open About May 1

TRUCKEE, April 15.—Indications are that the highway over the summit will be opened by May 1, which will be earlier than it has been opened for many years.
Fifty head of horses are to be driven to the summit for use by the Fox Film company in making moving pictures. On the return the animals will take the same route. This is considered to equal the work of a large force of workmen clearing the snow.

The snow is melting and is not over three feet in depth at any point. In other years at this season snow has been encountered in drifts from twenty-five to forty feet in depth.

The Lake Tahoe train has made its first trip to Truckee and its engineer reports little difficulty in plowing aside the snow on the track.

Owners of Timber to Assist Fire Guards

SACRAMENTO, April 15.—Approximately 5000 owners of timber land in California must cooperate with the state and federal governments this summer in fire prevention work under the provisions of the fire and patrol law, enacted by the 1923 legislature, according to data submitted by the United States Forestry Service to the State Board of Forestry.

It is believed that a majority of the timber owners will contribute to the upkeep of state or federal rangers rather than organize individual patrols, said D.
I. Kotek, in charge of the fire protection bureau of the federal service.

Under this new law more than 6,500,000 acres of timber land not guarded heretofore during the fire season will be protected.

Keiser Cancels Date With Realty Board

Edwin T. Keiser, state real estate commissioner, has notified the Glendale Realty Board that he will be unable to fill his engagement to address the members at the weekly luncheon tomorrow, as he has been summoned to Sacramento on official business of importance.

The program committee is preparing a special program to take the place of the address that was to have been delivered by Mr.
Keiser.

Social Events

Philathea Banquet

Everything is in readiness for the banquet to be given by the members of the Philathea class of the First Methodist church tonight in the banquet hall of the church.

This will be a semi-formal affair for the members of the class and their young women friends.
Miss Alice Jernegan, program chairman, has arranged for the presentation of a splendid program. Mrs. Anna Percy, chairman of the reservation committee, announces that up to the present time reservations have been made for sixty members.

Mrs. Helen K. Scripps, class teacher, and Miss Lois Percy, class president, are very well pleased with the spirit of co-operation expressed by the girls in helping to make this affair a success.

A cooked food sale will be conducted by the class on Saturday, April 19, at the Egyptian Village, beginning at 9 o'clock. Members and their friends are asked to patronize this sale. Miss Nina Hewlow is the chairman in charge.

Dinner Dance

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hunt of 412
West California street were hosts Saturday night to a group of friends whom they entertained at an Easter dinner party and dance.
The Easter colors, lavender and yellow, were attractively carried out in the decorative scheme with arrangements of spring flowers.
A low bowl of lavender and yellow flowers formed the centerpiece for the dinner table and favors, place cards and other table appointments were carried out in the same tints.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Eustace Rowley, Mr. and Mrs. V. Gough, Miss Erma
Patterson, Miss Bessie Carney,
Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hunsberger of Glendale and Charles Knuckles of Los Angeles, Clifford Round of Manhattan Beach, Mr. and Mrs.
William Pahland of Highland Park and the host and hostess,
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hunt.

Informal Affair

Mrs. Frank P. Allen of 1102
Green street was the honoree at a delightful informal affair given last night by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Goodfellow of 705 South Adams street, in the celebration of her birthday anniversary.

A pink and white color scheme was attractively carried out in the decorations. A beautifully decorated birthday cake lighted with tiny pink candles was served with the refreshments.

The guests included Mrs. Frank P. Allen, honoree, and daughters and son-in-law, Miss Katherine Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank T.
Allen and daughter, Mary Jane, of 602 East Lomita avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Goodfellow and little son Allen.

Plan Girls' Camp

The camp committee, acting for the Glendale Girl Scout Council, met with the scout captains Monday night at the Community Service offices to discuss possible camp locations for the coming summer.

Investigation of suggested camping spots will be made as soon as the quarantine is lifted from mountain roads.

Mrs. F. A. Beach, Scout Commissioner, reported that plans for furnishing the Girl Scout clubhouse were going forward and many donations had already been received.

Besides the captains and council, members of the camp committee were F. A. Beach,
R. C. Horner, M. Gannon, R. T.
Burr, W. E. Rount, A. T. Winters-gill.

Leap Year Dance

The United Artisans, Glendale
Assembly No. 542, will entertain with a Leap Year dance next Saturday night, April 19, at the Knights of Pythias hall, corner of Park avenue and Brand boulevard, at 8:30 o'clock, it is announced.

Music for the dancing will be furnished by the Alhambra orchestra. Members and their friends are looking forward to this affair with considerable pleasure.

The committee in charge of arrangements and all details includes J. J. Stevens and Misses Anna Mae and Thelma Pettley.

Canadians Meet

The Glendale Canadian club members are looking forward to the monthly dance to be given Thursday night, April 17, at 8 o'clock in the K. P. hall, Park avenue and Brand boulevard.

Kelly's orchestra will furnish the music for the dancing. A cordial invitation is extended to all members and their friends to attend.

During the evening details will be announced relative to the plans for the British Boys' Memorial fund on May 1.

Mrs. William Western is chairman of arrangements.

Lunch at Club

Mrs. Charles B. Guthrie of 1441

be hostess Wednesday afternoon at the meeting of chapter DJ, P. E. O.

Artists' Program

The Artists' Section of the Glendale Music club will meet Friday night, April 18, at the home of Mrs. G. Norman Ball, 1447 Cleveland drive, located off Kenneth road and one block this side of Grand View avenue.

Mme. Gloria Bretherton will direct the study of the opera "Tos-ca" and will present the story with illustrations at the piano.
Riffa Leighton, soprano, will sing the arias and the piano selections will be given by Mrs. G. Norman Ball and violin selections by Glen Hall.

All members are urged to be in attendance.

Postpone Meeting

Because of vacation, there will be no meeting of the Glendale Union High School Parent-Teacher association this week. In the absence of the president, Mrs. C. H.
Whitney, Mrs. Pierson Hanning, first vice-president, is in charge of the association.

Mrs. Hanning announces that the executive board is to meet next Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. Saylor, 335
Patterson street.

Chapter Lunches

Chapter, AH, P. E. O., members are to have a particularly interesting meeting tomorrow, when they will have luncheon at the Egyptian Village at 12:30 o'clock and later a business meeting and musical program at the home of Mrs. Gladys Stephenson on Randolph street.

Hostesses will be Mesdames Gladys Stephenson, Grace Hobbs, Abbie Welch and Bessie Mabry.
The musical program has been arranged by Mrs. Lillian Smits.

Birthday Surprise

Mrs. Lloyd H. Wilson, of 204
West Milford street, was delightfully surprised Saturday night to find herself honoree at a birthday party given for her by her husband at the Oakmont Country Club.

Mr. Wilson had invited twenty-six guests, all of whom were from Los Angeles except Dr. and Mrs.
H. R. Boyer of Glendale.

Mrs. Wilson was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Costume Party

Mrs. Pearl G. Curran of 214
East Chestnut street will be hostess to the Euterpe club Thursday night at her home, when they will entertain with a costume party.

Invited guests are to be Miss Hazel Linkugel and her violin pupils and Mrs. Grace Jackson and her music pupils.

This social event will take the place of the regular meeting of the club for April.

At Taylor Home

The Aid society of Casa Verdugo Methodist church will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Taylor, 221
West Stocker street. Mrs. Frank Marshall will be assisting hostess.

A special meeting of Circle 3, of which Mrs. W. C. Hollins is chairman, has been called for 1:15 o'clock at the home of

HELPFUL HINTS

Ohmic resistance is not a basis for the sensitivity of radio receivers (phones). Impedance is the important thing, but this varies with the signals received, so it is impossible to rate the phones by any fixed standard of impedance. The best set of receivers ever used by the writer had a resistance of 2200 ohms. Many receivers with a resistance of 3000 to 6000 ohms are markedly inferior to low priced receivers of 2000 ohms. In fact, the writer is favorably impressed toward any manufacturer who omits a statement of the resistance of his phones when advertising them. High resistance looks impressive but "it doesn't mean anything."

RECALL PIONEER DAYS PASSED IN IMPERIAL VALLEY

Idea of Loneliness Scouted, Even if Utilities May Be Found Lacking

By "OLD TIMER"

Being regarded somewhat as a pioneer, "Old Timer" rises to remark that, having "pioneered" several times in several states, if it were to be done over again, the pioneering would all be done in California and not only in California but preferably in Glendale.

Tales of the struggles and hardships of the early days in Glendale are related but when narrowed down, they reveal to a very great extent only the struggles attending the development of any new country, and although lacking in public utilities such as gas or electric light, paved streets and moving pictures, yet those early days could hardly be called severe, although strenuous in the struggle with sage brush and water development.

But, compared with the felling of timber and clearing of land in the eastern states in a rigorous climate, the task in sunny California was an easy one.

Even pioneering on the Platte in Nebraska, where a crop of sod corn could be raised in a few months, had its drawbacks in the way of terrible blizzards, occasional droughts and always a lack of fuel.

Not long since an article appeared in a city paper, evidently written by a woman, purporting to live on a desert farm.

Idea exaggerated. The loneliness of the desert farm was stressed, carrying out the popular idea. But when it is remembered that without water there is no desert farm and that the development of water, whether by well or canal, means men, teams, power lines, road making, autos and telephones, the idea of loneliness seems somewhat exaggerated and years before the time.

If on a desert farm, the zanjero is a frequent visitor. If irrigation is by well the powermen, the repair men and the collector of necessity must have roads, and roads mean autos and with autos the point of human contact is established and modern life with social opportunities, even if somewhat limited, is possible.

A few weeks ago that pertinent paragraph of The Glendale Evening News, Gil A. Cowan, wrote of a flying visit made to the Imperial valley. It reminded "Old Timer" of months spent on a "desert farm" a few years after that miracle of the century, the turning of the Colorado river into that great basin, "Las Palmas de los Manos de Dios," the palm of God's hand.

Starts for Valley

It was with misgiving as to what the future held that Glendale was left one morning early in April when a fog hung over the city and overcoats and furs were comfortable, and only after passing over the summit at Banning finding it necessary to discard the extra wraps.

As the train, (it was in the days before the highway was completed,) which had puffed its way up the slope now slid noiselessly down on the floor of the valley, the desert along the Salton sea, the heat grew more intense until the thermometer showed 102 degrees and it became necessary to put wet towels on the heads of some of the elderly passengers.

On past the Salton sea until reaching the new town of El Centro some seventeen miles from

Briefs From Los Angeles

By Southland News Service.

SCHEDULE FOR McADOO
LOS ANGELES, April 15.—William G. McAdoo, Democratic nominee for president, who, according to reports, was to arrive in Los Angeles tonight, will leave Chicago today for Spokane, Wash. He will speak in Seattle April 19 and San Francisco and Oakland on the 21st. According to the present schedule, he will arrive in Los Angeles about April 26, and he has to speak in Long Beach on that date.

MAY GET HER JEWELS
LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Mrs. Lucy Stevens, Venice, is assured of recovering at least part of the valuable diamonds she was fleeced of March 7 by two bandits, who were aided, it is claimed, by Mrs. Ola Holst of Ocean Park. Mrs. Stevens says she was invited by Mrs. Holst to take a car ride, and, when returning from Los Angeles, the two robbers appeared and relieved her of her jewels. Mrs. Holst being undisturbed, R. C. Holst, alleged husband of the woman, told of her part in the affair, and said that she received a diamond brooch as her share of the loot. Mr. Holst was arrested late yesterday, and it is expected that, through him, the handits and Mrs. Holst will be located, according to reports from the sheriff's office.

JAIL GLENDALE MAN
LOS ANGELES, April 15.—John L. S. Perch, known quite widely as a salesman and promoter, and a resident of 1421 East Colorado boulevard, Glendale, was arrested late yesterday during the course of an investigation of his dealings, and lodged in the county jail, by Constables Adams and McCollum. Perch remains in the bastille for lack of $5000 bonds.

Local Society Gives Program at Mission

The Christian Endeavor society of the Tropic Presbyterian church gave the program at the Midnight mission in Los Angeles last night, under the directorship of Rev. Harold Shaffer, acting pastor during the absence of Dr. Winard in the south.

The program consisted of a short address by Rev. Shaffer and the following musical numbers: Violin numbers by Herbert Bruck, "Within Your Heart" and "Abide With Me"; piano and cornet duet by Mr. Perry and son. Robert Perry; two numbers by a trio, Miss Dorothy Thompson, Miss Frances Goldsborough and Miss Helena Richardson. Twenty-two members of the Endeavor made up the party.

Former Resident of City Dies In North

The announcement of the death on March 31, 1924, of Mrs. W. A. Thompson, a long-time resident of Glendale, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Adaline Shields, in San Francisco, has been received by Mrs. Hal Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thompson lived for a number of years at the corner of Cypress and Central avenues and were largely identified with the community life. Mrs. Thompson was an active member of the Eastern Star and was a charter member of the Thursday Afternoon club. Mr. Thompson died some years ago.

An automobile has been built to be mounted on railway trucks that runs at a speed of more than 80 miles an hour.

A building to house the art of the nation is being urged for erection in Washington, D. C.

POSTMASTER HAS CHANCE TO BOOST CITY ON JOURNEY

D. Ripley Jackson Helps To Advertise Glendale While in North

Bubbling over with enthusiasm for Glendale, Captain D. Ripley Jackson, local postmaster, has returned from San Francisco where he attended the state convention of The Order of the Amaranth, a Masonic affiliation. Captain Jackson, who is Royal Patron of Ionic Court of Glendale, was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Nana King Custer, Royal Matron of Ionic Court and Mr. and Mrs. Mark T. Lee. Making the trip by automobile, they were away one week. "Absolutely the best city of them all," said Captain Jackson yesterday afternoon when asked if he was glad to be back in Glendale. "The nearer I got the more anxious I became. I boosted Glendale all during the convention. The only thing I was silent on was the hotel question. With a modern hotel we won't have to take a back seat for any of them."

Through Quarantine
The postmaster stated that he experienced no difficulty whatsoever in getting through quarantine. He stated that the officers were very gentlemanly. All flowers, fruit and animals are forbidden to go through, and the car is run through a trough for the disinfection of the wheels. These disinfecting stations are placed at every county line. There is no delay, he stated, and folks contemplating motor trips should not delay them on account of the reports going around that it is difficult to get by the quarantine lines.

The value of a hotel to a community was emphasized by Captain Jackson. He stated that San Luis Obispo, a town of 12,000 inhabitants, had a new hostelry called the Anderson, that was up to the standard of any hotel in California. He stated that he intended to put his shoulder to the wheel and boost for a hotel in Glendale immediately.

"I found quite a lot of antagonistic propaganda being circulated throughout the north about conditions in southern California," he said, "and I was kept busy combating them. Many of the people asked me if it were true that the bottom had fallen out of Glendale. When I cited to them to the building record for March, with Glendale standing fifth in the state list, they were amazed, apparently. Many of them stated that they had heard that Glendale, in common with other cities in this part of the state, had floundered."

Captain Jackson appeared on the program twice in concert numbers, putting Glendale in the eye of the convention delegates. Another member of the local delegation acted as official usher. He brought back with him the charter for Ionic Court, for which the members have been waiting for so long.

C. OF C. ASKS AID FOR BOND ISSUE

Flood Control Proposal Wins Business Men's Support In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Twelve thousand members of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, as well as those of similar organizations in Los Angeles county, are being appealed this week to support the $35,300,000 flood control bond issue to be voted upon May 6.

This action sweeps away any doubt on the part of the outlying communities as to the support of the city organization because flood control most vitally affects the country territory. A. G. Arnold, manager of the industrial bureau of the chamber declared that "the backbone of Los Angeles' prosperity and the one item responsible more than anything else for its industrial growth is the prosperity of the county as a whole. The city realizes this and it looks not alone for protection against flood danger in the proposed measure, but also the welfare of the county agricultural element."

Plan Flood Control
This morning, the officials of all Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley gathered in the farm bureau offices of the county and there planned campaigns furthering the flood control interest.

R. F. McClellan, chairman of the county board of supervisors, went on record today declaring Los Angeles county must provide against floods and at the same time assure a water supply for dry seasons. The bond issue accomplishes just that.

Powder headaches from handling nitro-glycerin are absent when "non-freezing" powder is used.

EXPECT MANY TO ATTEND LEGION'S ANNUAL BANQUET

Verdugo Hills Post Will Be Host Tomorrow Night; Collins to Talk

Arrangements to feed 200 hungry Legionnaires and Legionnaires have been made for the "First Annual Mess Call" of Verdugo Hills Post No. 288, American Legion, scheduled for the La Crescenta school house at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow night. James F. Collins, state commander of the Legion, of Long Beach, will head a long list of distinguished speakers. He will give his famous talk on "The American Legion."

An excellent program has been arranged by Commander E. L. Sullivan and his committee. James W. Foley, "Pasadena Al Johnson," will be there. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Girard of Glendale will sing. Capt. Harry Insley of Los Angeles will lead the singing, and Eugene J. Wix of Glendale, district commander, will speak.

The banquet will be under the supervision of Mrs. Mentzer of Glendale, and from reservations already made it is probable that all the places will be filled. After the banquet and speech-making those present will dance to the music of G. F. Hoyer's "Music Makers."

CLAIMS TO HAVE CURE FOR PLAGUE

Gassing Process Employed By La Crescenta Man On Livestock

St. Clair De Jacques of 238 West Honolulu avenue, La Crescenta, who has spent a number of years in Europe, claims that he has a positive cure and preventive for the foot-and-mouth disease. This remedy will immunize any animal from sixty to ninety days, and will absolutely cure an infected animal within a week, he says. He claims that he can give the treatment to healthy animals and turn them into an infected area, and that they will not contract the disease. The remedy is not a vaccine, but a gassing process, and it is harmless to man and beast, he says.

Mr. De Jacques also states that he can save all of the cattle that are now being slaughtered, and he desires that an opportunity be given him by the state and federal government to show what his treatment can do. European veterinarians have found that the foot-and-mouth disease is caused by a germ, he says, and he has testimonials from veterinarians and cattlemen that his treatment destroys this germ, and that a rapid healing takes place. Mr. De Jacques says that any farmer, rancher, dairyman or cattlemen can immunize his cattle at very low cost, and if this process is adopted by the state and federal governments, it will prove of great benefit to the public at large.

FERBER'S MAKING SPRING DISPLAY

Windows Present Hints of Many New Materials at Department Store

The windows of the A. Ferber Company, Inc., department store at the corner of East Broadway and Maryland avenue reflect the large stocks of new spring goods now arriving, declares Alexander Levy, manager.

In every department, the most attractive spring apparel is now on display, including dresses, coats, jackets and millinery. Not only the latest styles but the very newest materials are arriving, Mr. Levy states. Though late this year, the spring season will be brilliant and offers some charming innovations in women's wear.

In millinery particularly, many of the hats are along entirely novel lines, and the street and afternoon dresses are very modish. The windows at the A. Ferber department store hold only a hint of the many attractive lines of new spring goods to be found within the store.

With Easter coming Sunday, but a few days remain in which to get new spring things in the wanted modes and Manger Levy of Ferber's urges Glendale shoppers not to put off making their purchases until the last minute.

THIRD MAN MISSING

PASADENA, April 15.—The third man missing in a week is being sought by southern officers. Terrance Jackson, aged 43, who is said by his wife to suffer from amnesia, wandered away from home last Thursday afternoon. He has not been seen since. Jackson looks older than his years, having snow white hair and deep lines in his face. His face is ruddy and eyes green, he is medium height with broad shoulders. He was dressed in a blue serge suit, brown sweater, khaki shirt and tan hat.

Jackson has been a civil engineer. When affected by loss of memory he hides his identity, it is said.

STRAW HATS IN LOOT

BELL, April 15.—A case of straw hats consigned to a local clothier were found in an empty house here. They are believed to have been stolen from the Pacific Electric freight platform. Sheriff's deputies are investigating—looking for hoboes boasting new straw hats, for they attribute the theft to them.

WOMAN ASSAULTED

EL MONTE, April 15.—Sunday's peace and quietude were disturbed here by a vicious assault on a Japanese housewife, Mrs. Y. Fujimoto, who resides between here and Puenete. The case has all appearance of the "badge bandit's" work. The victim has a basal fracture of the skull and numerous face and body bruises. She will recover, according to Dr. W. F. Wilcox of this city, who is attending her today.

HOLD TWO SUSPECTS

NEW HALL, April 15.—Constable Jack Pilcher nabbed two men he suspects having participated in a gun battle Sunday at Little Rock with A. Mitchell, who phoned the officer to intercept them. Leo Lane, a Liano rancher, and G. C. Boner, of Los Angeles, are the names given by the jailed pair. Details of the fight could not be obtained as telephone wires were severed.

DIRECTORS TO QUIT

EL CENTRO, April 15.—At a meeting held in this city last week and secretly attended by representative citizens from all parts of the county it was agreed that owing to the internal discord evidenced in the affairs of the Imperial irrigation district, that each director should be asked to resign and failing in this recall proceedings will be instituted.

This was the information which leaked out today. Those present were of the opinion, it is stated, that the maneuvering for political position was detrimental to the management of the district and the only way to restore confidence was to install an entirely new set of directors.

It is expected that the storm will break within thirty days.

MAY BUILD PIER

LONG BEACH, April 14.—Possibility that William Wrigley may build a new pier for Long Beach is pressed by those in touch with his plans to spend $50,000,000 in the development of Catalina Island.

JURY FREES RANCHER

EL CENTRO, April 14.—T. D. Ehmk, citrus grower, has been exonerated by a coroner's jury in connection with the slaying of Floyd Jackson, shot while stealing grapefruit in Ehmk's grove.

MAN INJURED AS AUTO HITS TRUCK

Ed Campbell Hurt In Crash At East Broadway and Adams Street

Ed Campbell of 1208 East Lexington drive is suffering today with painful injuries received shortly before 7 o'clock last night, when the truck he was driving was struck by a Pacific Electric car at the intersection of East Broadway and Adams street.

According to reports of the accident, Mr. Campbell was driving east on Broadway and, as he approached Adams street and was going to turn north, he saw the street car coming west. Three persons had stepped out to take the car and, thinking that, as is customary, the car would stop at the corner of East Broadway and Adams, Mr. Campbell continued on his way, turning north, directly in the path of the car, which did not slow down, but struck the truck cab.

The force of the collision was such that the truck cab was badly wrecked and Mr. Campbell severely injured in the stomach by the torn steering wheel.

Taken to Home
He was taken to his home by three men who rushed to his aid. The extent of his injuries could not be determined last night, but an X-ray was to be taken today.

POLICE HUNT FOR MYSTERY GIRL IN BURGLARIES HERE

Seek Alleged Aid in Case Of C. H. Wickstrom, Held to Answer

Who was the "mysterious" woman that according to the police is said to have accompanied C. H. Wickstrom of Tujunga on the frequent visits to Glendale homes with which he is charged? Chief of Police Fraser, local detectives and deputy sheriffs have been trying to find out the answer to this question since the arrest of Wickstrom at his home two weeks ago, following the identification of his car as the machine standing outside a residence where a burglary was being committed.

Many of the parties who have identified the articles recovered in Wickstrom's house stated that there was positive evidence that the burglar had been accompanied by a woman. Foot tracks and the articles taken led to this belief.

Wife Is Released

Mrs. Wickstrom, despite continued severe grillings at the hands of the local officers maintains her innocence, and she was released after a short time in custody. Did Wickstrom have a woman accomplice of which his wife was unaware? Or is she shielding someone? The police are asking the questions.

Wickstrom appeared before Judge F. H. Lowe for preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon and was held for trial in the Superior Court on five commitments. Bail on each was fixed at $5,000 cash or $10,000 property, making a total of $25,000 cash or $50,000 property bond. This Wickstrom was unable to furnish.

His hearing has been postponed two weeks to enable him to employ a lawyer, but he appeared in court without an attorney. He asked the judge that as the attorney he had retained had not showed up, his case be further continued. This Judge Lowe refused.

Conducts Own Case

Wickstrom conducted his own case. When Chief Fraser testified that he had evidence to show that Wickstrom had served a term in San Quentin for burglary, he jumped to his feet and objected.

When asked by Judge Lowe on what grounds, he stated that "it was immaterial and irrelevant, and not pertaining to the charges against him."

There still remains at police headquarters several valuable articles taken from his home that have not been identified. A beautiful floor lamp and many rugs are still awaiting an owner to claim them.

The police have endeavored to locate other places were Wickstrom has stored articles, as information in their hands leads them to believe he has, they state. To date they have been unsuccessful.

Local Artists to Be on Program at Federation Meet

Glendale's reputation for being a musical city is to be sustained April 26 to May 1 at the convention in Berkeley of the California Federated clubs, by a group of talented Glendale musicians.

Glendadians appearing on the programs will be Miss Gertrude Cleophas, pianist; Mrs. Enona Hopkins, harpist; Alonzo Wolter, young pianist; and Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, head of the music department at the Glendale Union High school.

Delegates from the Glendale Music club will be Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, club president; and Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, Mrs. Calvin Whiting and Mrs. W. H. Wallace.

Speaking of pleasant conversations the sweetest words are "Please find a check enclosed."

"Grand Jury Finds Dolley Unfit for Office," says headline. "The grand jury, in its official opinion, found that Dolley, as a prohibition enforcement officer, had proved his efficiency and honesty as an investigator and arresting officer," says the story. No wonder the jury found him unfit for office. Who ever heard of an office-holder with those qualities?

Mrs. Gifford Pinchot says the "failure to solve the prohibition problem is a heaping dishonor to America." Gosh, are they threatening us with that again?

In Burbank they sometimes use liquor to talk pipes, according to the city engineer, who said it acted quickly and the talking became hard almost immediately. What the city officials now crave to know is whether or not it didn't petrify some of the workmen.

This investigation epidemic that is going around is no joke. One of the town fathers of Tujunga is in trouble. He visited the circus in the city and a man in the sidshow took two rabbits out of his whiskers. Now the neighbors have started an investigation to see what else he is concealing.

VALUE OF HOMES RELATED IN TALK TO CLUB WOMEN

Purposes of Better Homes Week Outlined; City's Benefits Told

Tuesday Afternoon Club women attending the luncheon at the clubhouse today listened to Peter Hanson, president of the Glendale Realty Board, speak on "Better Homes." Mr. Hanson said:

"The women of clubdom are to be congratulated for having set aside a 'Better Home' week. No worthier theme could claim their attention, for it contemplates the commonplace and withal fundamental in everyday life, and is not only of local interest, but of national scope.

"To the realtor it suggests a livelihood, to the merchant it means more trade, to the stranger it reflects an impression, to the father it involves shelter and comfort, to the mother it is the embodiment of her ideals, to the child it affords wholesome growth, to the nation civic betterment, to God the better urge.

"A 'Better Home' program invades the realm of the sacred. It is more than a sheltering roof and a vine and fig tree. It embraces something besides imposing piles of brick and mortar. For home is life itself, and life is more than meat and the body is more than raiment. Around it cling the tenderest ties—the endearing promises of youth, the cherished hopes of mid-life, the abiding memories of declining years.

"The 'Better Home' idea inculcates civic pride. The step across the threshold from tenant to owner enjoins a new duty. A new horizon expands. New obligations loom up ahead. These find response in the beckoning call of a new service. Self-respect and pride impel an interest in city affairs, and a new personality forthwith asserts its influence for civic betterment and community service.

"Better homes' promote national loyalty. The peace and happiness of our homes are vouchsafed to us only by the protecting arm of Uncle Sam. Our loved ones are safe and secure at home this day only because our government has underwritten that security. The man who defies that protection flaunts the flag, therefore, the greater the patriotic response in defense of home and country.

Foster Incentive
"Better homes foster incentive and initiative. It begets a consuming desire to overcome. Creative ideas, long hidden and dormant, suddenly find expression. New ambitions unconsciously spring up in the human breast. The urge to do and conquer

Protect Your Valuables

There is a prevailing idea that Safe Deposit Vaults are intended only for people of large means; this is a mistake, however, as persons in moderate circumstances need protection as much, if not more, than the wealthy, and we extend the same courtesy to the renter of the smallest Safe Deposit Box as we do to the renter of a larger one, all of our patrons having access to our vaults as often as they choose.

A Safe Deposit Box affords you absolute protection at a trifling cost. Our smallest sized box will fully protect property worth many thousands of dollars.

When you think it over, there is but one conclusion—you should procure a Safe Deposit Box, and get it without delay.

A good sized box can be rented in our Burglar and Fire-Proof Vault for $2.00 per year and upwards.

ALL GLENDALE TO INVEST

Glendale's $50,000 advertising campaign to get 100,000 population was launched last night at the Oakmont Country club by a dinner meeting under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, attended by leading business and professional men of the city, and that culminated in the signing of pledges totaling $16,075. The balance of the fund will be raised during the next ten days, among residents and property owners, in an intensive campaign in charge of M. Walters, chairman of the Chamber of commerce ways and means committee, who presided over last night's meeting.

From the moment D. H. Smith, first vice-president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, opened the meeting and turned it over to Mr. Walters, straight through the evening until the last speaker had concluded his remarks and pledging began, there was no single note of opposition to the raising of a $50,000 fund to sell Glendale's many advantages to the world at large, everyone realizing that a community is no less mercurialisable than goods in a store. Good fellowship prevailed throughout and, in brief, the gathering was a complete success and typical of the fine type of Glendale citizenship.

Glendale has never yet failed to realize its needs and fulfill them. GLENDALE WILL PUT THIS CAMPAIGN OVER THE TOP! Every man, woman and child in the city will make an investment in Greater Glendale! There will be NO DONATIONS! There will be INVESTMENTS—and all Glendale will be on the roll of honor!

WE ARE WASTERS!

America is a nation of wasters. It has often been said that a family in any of the old countries could live on what an American housewife throws in the garbage bucket. And it must be confessed that the charge against us is just and true. The housewife who, perhaps, would not spend a dime carelessly will scrape into the garbage receptacle food that costs many times that sum. We often hear the statement that many kinds of business are overdone. It is no more nor less than waste when four or five business establishments are maintained and two would serve the people. Churches duplicate each other in costly plants and expensive organizations when they are working for the same end.

Look over the California oil fields and see the wastage. Derricks set down almost against each other and the oil drained from these valuable deposits and sold to foreign countries at a low price when half the expense of drilling would have conserved the oil for a longer time and brought better prices.

And the United States government is the greatest waster of all. We know it but we don't do anything about it. Individually, we each have our little pet economies that seem to justify extravagance and waste in other things. As far as the government is concerned we have nothing to do with that.

It is said that large quantities of valuable machinery that is badly needed for road building in many sections of the country is rotting and rusting because war contracts stipulated that this was to be used for war purposes only. Eleven thousand new typewriters were thrown on the junk heap in Washington for much the same reason. Machinery worth $79,000,000 was sold for $3,500,000 when as junk it would have brought $6,000,000. We have heard enough of the waste in the airplane department and in disposing of other war supplies, and not only waste but theft in the Veterans' Bureau. But we refuse to become excited about these things.

We have plenty of organizations—in fact there seems to be a waste in the duplication of effort of various clubs and societies. We have plenty of people who have the instinct to reform something but they seldom get very far. The big movements start with a flourish, loyal adherents flock to the standard, but when it comes to genuine accomplishment very little is heard. Of course a big worth-while effort like the "Standardization of the size of beds," sponsored by "The Division of Simplified Practice of the United States Department of Commerce" (whatever that may be) would be successful. Talk about waste!

If the present investigations in the Cabinet and in Congress only wake the people to the realization that we are responsible for the condition of affairs; if they will only arouse the voters to their duty so they shall demand that their law makers and administrators conduct the business of the nation on a business-like and dignified plane, all the mud-slinging will have been worth-while even though we lose every drop of oil in the naval reserves.

Let us try to eliminate some of the waste, beginning in the home and ending with our national government. And meanwhile let us give our whole-hearted support to our California governor who is pledged to a program of waste-elimination in this state.

WHERE WOMEN STAND

In a straw vote taken by a woman's magazine Coolidge was the choice of a large majority of the women for president. The voters were in favor of enforcement of the Volstead act, a world court, a uniform marriage and divorce law, some form of birth control, a federal amendment to abolish child labor and the state censorship of motion pictures and books.

The ordinary business man can make money while times are good. The average city experiences growth during flush times. But it takes a real business man, and a city with a vision, to keep forging ahead when temporary reverses come along. The Evening News knows Glendale is made of the stuff that will insure a steady and even rapid growth, regardless of conditions generally.

Every plan known to man has been tried out, in an effort to discourage the spring poet. But on such things do they thrive. Like wild flowers trampled under foot, they return with the season's rain, and jingle once again. Like wild flowers seeking to give expression, we would not be without them.

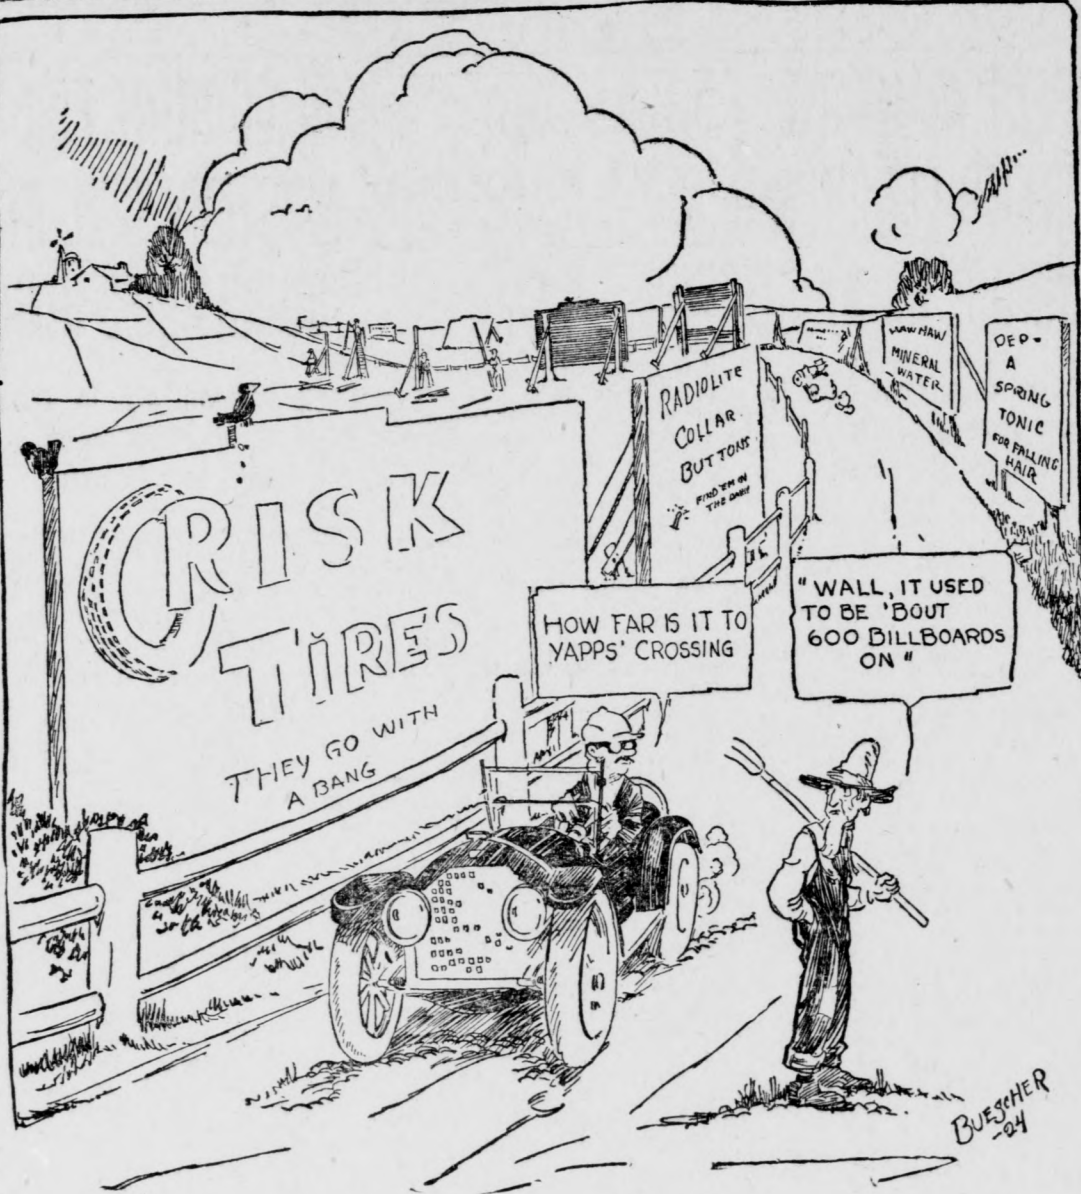

That President Coolidge by his uprightness and his downrightness through a very trying period has won the esteem and support of many people not in agreement with some of his policies is like a ray of sunshine in an otherwise dark situation.

The phonographic record, with a crack in it, is done for. The same rule might well be applied to a politician—and his political record. One crack, or even a big dent, and he is out of the running.

A prize fighter can't see any fun or any money in getting into a scrap outside of the ring.

Charles Evans Hughes

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Charles Evans Hughes, the Secretary of State for the United States and the heir-apparent to the presidency if anything should happen to Mr. Coolidge, is a man whose personality is worth knowing.

He once came very near being elected president. If he had succeeded it would by no means have been a calamity, for he is proper presidential timber.

When you first see Mr. Hughes you are prepared to be struck by the appearance of his whiskers, which have furnished abundant material for the caricaturists. But to me his most striking feature was his teeth. They are strong, long, white teeth, and although they are exposed in a genial smile, they give one the impression that he means business.

Hughes, as an English butler would say, is a "largish" man. He gives the appearance of an abundant vitality, plenty of muscle and plenty of nervous force.

He is genial, somewhat jovial in his conversation, has a good ringing laugh, and uses it.

He is a lawyer. He goes at things after the method of lawyers. When he talks upon a subject he uses plenty of words, but uses them well.

His mind struck me as being first of all orderly. His thoughts came easily. Evidently he did not leave his ideas lying around loose, but each was in its proper file and pigeonhole.

He is a clear speaker because he is not a messy thinker.

Hughes has ideals and enthusiasms, but his mind is predominantly an organizing mind.

In his practicality, in his thorough knowledge of the materials he has to work with and of the limitations involved in carrying out any theory, he resembles Lloyd George.

As Coolidge recalls Grant, Hughes recalls Roosevelt. He has the same abundant vigor and overflowing vitality.

The Secretary of State plays a very important part in the government of the United States. He is the liaison officer of the country. Upon him largely depend our relations with other nations.

A weak, vacillating or foolish Secretary of State could get us into trouble with other nations more quickly than any other official except the President himself.

Hence the necessity for dignity, diplomacy and above all practicality in this officer.

It is a good thing that the Secretary of State is appointed by the President. It would never do to elect him.

I found that Mr. Hughes is inclined to take very seriously his responsibilities of keeping peace with the other nations of the world. He realizes both the importance of his job and how ticklish it is.

He has done great service in thoroughly organizing the diplomatic branch of the government.

It seems to me that his position in refusing to recognize Russia has much to be said for it.

Little Studies —of— Human Nature

PROCRASTINATION

Mr. Human Nature is an odd genius but mighty interesting and likeable too. The curious thing about him is that in a constantly changing world he is unchanging and unchangeable. He has the same traits today that he had when the world began. All efforts to reform him have been in vain. Those who would make the world over must reckon with old Mr. H. Nature. They may reform the individual but Human Nature remains the same.

This famous character has features that always distinguish him. He may try to disguise himself but he always gives himself away. He's always doing something that proclaims him as Human Nature. Many of the characteristics are splendid and give us a warm feeling in our hearts when we see them displayed. Others are not so good.

Among the latter is procrastination. "It's human nature to put it off till the last minute," is one of the most frequent indictments we hear of our old friend. When the Apostle Paul "reasoned of righteousness, temperance and judgment to come" with the governor of Judea, old Human Nature speaking through Felix said, "When I have a more convenient season I will call for thee." And it has been human nature from that time to this to procrastinate in matters varying in importance from the buying of a paper of pins to the saving of a soul.

For many days or weeks registrars sit in prominent places on the streets of Glendale for the convenience of the people. They twirl their thumbs while potential voters saying to themselves, "some more convenient season," circled around the tables in order to pass. On the night registration was to close these women sat in the cold until late into the night trying to serve the long line of procrastinators. But after all those who came at the eleventh hour are to be commended. So many never came at all. And here again is another peculiarity of Human Nature—to value lightly what we have. Wouldn't the voters who failed to register be indignant if permanently deprived of the franchise?

Those of us who never procrastinate have no patience with this trait of Human Nature. But what are we to do about it? Superior beings, through the centuries, have been trying to change and reform the old man but to no avail.

Human Nature is not a bad fellow after all. Instead of becoming impatient with his weaknesses let us study him faithfully. We will find him a most interesting and lovable character with good impulses and many kind and unselfish deeds to his credit. We can't change him anyhow.

BULL-HEAD FISHIN'

Pick 'rel fishin's quite excitin'
When a big one grabs your frog,
Makes a dash for deeper water,
Wraps your line around a log;
But I guess you can't compare it,
If MY mem'ry serves me right,
With those fishin' days back yonder,
When you got a bull-head bite.

Big black bass are gamey fellows,
And they'll make your old reel sing,
Give you slack and up and beat it,
Fast as teal-duck on the wing;
But the thrills that bass can furnish,
Though you vote me out of date,
Can't compare with boyhood fishin',
When the bull-pouts grabbed the bait.

Albacore and leapin' tuna
Bend a pole just like a whip,
Keep you jumpin' and a-sweatin',
And try out your Walton grip;
But no fishin' in the ocean,
If you'll only get me right,
Can compare with catchin' bull-heads,
Just as day is turnin' night.

Can of worms right in my pocket,
Pond that's shaded well by trees,
Willow pole and line and bobber,
And deep water that's at ease;
Sun a-sinkin' mighty lively,
Bull-heads bitin' most like mad,
And more thrills and joys a-fishin',
Than Ike Walton ever had.

EVERYONE WILL GET CHANCE TO BOOST FOR CITY

Spirit of Full Harmony Prevails at Gathering in Oakmont Club fund, and the men who are guiding the destinies of Glendale and of its industrial life rallied to the support of the plan with an enthusiasm and a vision that will, it is claimed, bring the campaign to a successful conclusion well within the time limit of ten days that has been allowed for the raising of the money.

Every dollar raised for this fund, it was declared, will be spent exclusively on advertising Glendale, in publications that will be national in scope and that will be carefully selected for their merit as media through which to reach the classes of people Glendale wants and needs.

To Be Supervised
The expenditure of the money will be under the supervision of a board of control, consisting of the heads of the civic and social organizations of the city, and the greatest care will be exercised to see that the money is placed in channels where it will accomplish the greatest good for Glendale.

Starting today, the campaign to raise the balance of the money will last until April 24, and one of the principal features of it will be that property owners of Glendale will be asked to contribute to the fund on the basis of their real estate holdings.

Glendale has watched other cities making their appeals to people from all over the country to come and make their homes and found their industries at various points in the Southland, and in its determination to hold its proud place as "The Fastest Growing City in America," Glendale is going to the front in a campaign that will still further aid its growth and its prosperity and that will bring to its gates a substantial increase in the class of people who have made this one of the most worth-while cities in the world in which to live and do business.

BUSINESS MEN DO NOT TEMPT FATES
Not Superstitious, But at Same Time Send Out Chain Letters

CHICAGO, April 15.—One by one the illusions fall.
The hard-headed, successful and also tired American business men superstitious? Pooh, pooh! and even baw!

And still direct evidence is hard to overlook. This happened. Some few days ago someone sent out a "chain letter" which read: "Copy this and send it to nine people to whom you wish good luck. The chain was started by an American officer and should go around the world three times. Do it within twenty-four hours, and after nine days good luck will come. Do not break the chain, for whoever does will have bad luck."

Among its recipients were several of the successful business men, to wit: Harry B. Hurd, attorney; H. J. Lorber, insurance broker; Thomas Byrne, wealthy contractor; W. R. Dawes, vice-president of the Central Trust Company.

Mr. Fallon, who, of course, is not superstitious, sent out the letter to Walter Cahill, of the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock Company.

"I think it's all damphoo!" opined Mr. Hurd, "but still—and he started his nine copies."

Mr. Lorber, in the insurance business, which does not permit superstition, turned the letter over to his stenographer for the copies. Perhaps after all—but then you never can tell.

MANY RESIDENCES WILL BE BUILT

Charles B. Guthrie Says Advertising to Cause Big Influx Here

Quoting from Socrates, the ancient Greek philosopher, to the effect that "no city can grow that has not for its foundation a principle—not building for better prosperity but to avoid misfortune," Charles B. Guthrie declared that the foundation of an advertising fund is simply the tithing of one's business to insure the stability of that business.

The plans that are under way now for increasing the population of Glendale to 100,000, he claimed, call for careful preparation in order to care for new residents when they do come here, and the fundamental need for this care lies in the encouraging of home ownership, and home ownership is the soundest barrier to the spread of communism and Bolshevist ideas that the world knows today.

Many New Homes
"Suppose you do bring another 50,000 people here," said Mr. Guthrie. "Have you considered just what that will mean to Glendale in new homes that will have to be built to accommodate them? Averaging five persons to a family, that will call for 10,000 new residences. That will show you what will happen to Glendale, even if only a portion of the extra 50,000 come here."

"Advertising is the backbone of the realtor's business, but ad-

TELLS NEED FOR FUNDS TO CARRY ON BIG PROJECT

Chairman M. Walters Says It's Up to People to Make Investment

The need for a systematic and well balanced campaign to advertise Glendale on a national scale was pointed out by M. Walters, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce ways and means committee, after Vice President D. H. Smith, who occupied the chair at last night's banquet at the Oakmont Country club, had turned the meeting over to him.

Taking up the project, from the time it was first decided to raise an advertising fund, Mr. Walters pointed out that Glendale, in 1920, received a national-wide advertising no cost to itself, through the publication of government census figures showing that this was the "Fastest Growing City in America," and the adoption of this slogan brought more publicity in the two following years, until, last year, it was felt that advertising should be carried on to broadcast Glendale's advantages even more widely.

Sees Big Returns
The $6000 that was spent last year, Mr. Walters declared, brought to Glendale at least $1,000,000, according to a check of the returns, and figuring on the same basis the sum of $50,000, the goal in this campaign will bring in at least $10,000,000.

"Every city in California today is spending money on advertising," said he. "If Glendale fails to demand a hearing before the public—and the only way this hearing can be had is through advertising—will the present property values hold up? Will business maintain its present encouraging level?"

Go Ahead or Behind
"There is no stationary point in business. If you stop going ahead you begin to go back. Every business, Glendale advertising is its up to the city itself to advertise and sell itself to the thousands who are already here or who are coming here from all over the country."

In explaining the plan to be followed in the ten days' campaign that opens today to raise the $50,000 for the advertising budget, Mr. Walters stated that the present movement is backed by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, and that every dollar collected would be spent on advertising the city, the expenditures to be under the close scrutiny and direction of a board of control composed of leaders in every line of the city's business.

Different System
In the past, he asserted, the same few wheel horses had been asked to do all the work and most of the contributing, but this time a different system is to be followed. The property owners of Glendale are to be asked to contribute to the advertising fund, on the basis of the footage of their holdings of Glendale real estate, and Mr. Walters, as well as other speakers, asserted that the men who have profited most from Glendale's rapid advance and the wave of prosperity have been the men who have held on to their real estate and have watched it increase in value.

The campaign that starts today will have as one of its aims the enrollment of every man, woman and child in Glendale, even if they can only contribute a dollar each, and buttons will be distributed to all subscribers.

The money pledged will be payable as follows: 20 per cent on May 1, and 10 per cent each thirty days thereafter for a period of eight months.

Mr. Walters read from a list showing the new industries that are now under way or that are to be launched in the immediate future in the Los Angeles metropolitan area, pointing out that every new industry means a benefit to Glendale and to every other part of Southern California, and this city, he declared, can tie in to the prosperity that is coming by the simple expedient of telling the newcomers about itself—both after they get to the Southland and before they start west.

Thirty-one engines turned out in 31 hours is a record production of a locomotive works recently.

vertising alone won't carry the business unless we deliver the goods.

"In the last four months I have addressed forty-one gatherings in various parts of this state, and I have been told frequently that Glendale is the best advertised city in California. Everywhere I have gone there is praise and good will for Glendale."

The property owners, Mr. Guthrie declared, have profited most by Glendale's growth, and it is only fair that they should assume their share of the burden in the present campaign to increase still further the values of every piece of property in the city.

Mr. Guthrie spoke briefly on the effects that are anticipated from the operations of the Greater Los Angeles Association in developing the industrial life of Southern California, declaring that every new industry brought to this section will prove a benefit to Glendale.

Civic Leaders Are Named To Control Expenditure

The following representative business men will constitute the Board of Control that will have full charge of the expenditure of Glendale's advertising fund:

TELLS BENEFITS OF NEW HIGHWAY

Boulevard to Bring Valley Traffic to Glendale, Speaker's Topic

The value and importance to Glendale of the proposed boulevard through Ivanhoe Hills, connecting Brand boulevard and Santa Monica boulevard, were outlined today noon at the Exchange club luncheon by A. J. Barnes of Westwood.

The new boulevard, he said, would result in people of the San Fernando valley district and adjacent territory coming through Glendale on route to Los Angeles, and the route would save considerable time. With the new Southern Pacific station here and the boulevard, he said, persons stopping at the Ambassador hotel could save from twenty to thirty minutes by using the Glendale station for railroad travel in preference to the Arcade station.

President R. E. Johnson presided at the luncheon, which was held at the Egyptian Village. He announced the state convention at Fresno had been indefinitely postponed.

Will Vote on Change
Two weeks from today the members of the club will vote on a proposed change in the by-laws relative to raising the initiation fees. The board of control has recommended that on and after June 1 the fee shall be $35 until the membership reaches seventy-five, at which time the fee will become $50 until a membership of 100 is reached, when the fee will be raised to $100.

The by-laws provide that a two-thirds vote is necessary to change the constitution, and all proposed amendments must be read at meetings for two weeks in advance of a vote. President Johnson suggested that the amendment place the fee at $50 after July 1, and $100 after 100 members have joined the club.

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, past president of the club, presented the club's charter, received this week from the national headquarters.

President Johnson and George A. Whitaker were elected delegates to the national convention at Nashville, with George Thomas and W. A. McCormack as alternates. The resignation of C. Milton Coye as a member of the board of control and chairman of the membership committee was accepted, and W. A. McCormack elected as his successor.

Races Across Snow to Beat Stork's Arrival

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 15.—Old Man Stork was outdone in a race here when a hastily constructed sled sped down Mount Manitou, close by Pike's Peak, with Mrs. O. Robertson, wife of the keeper of a forestry reserve experiment station high up on the mountain, and beat the bird to a local hospital.

With the famous bird fluttering just overhead, and the mountain trail blocked with snow, Robertson and J. A. Gibbs, another forest ranger, quickly fashioned a box-sled. Piling the improvised ambulance with quilts and furs, they made Mrs. Robertson comfortable. Harnessing themselves to the sled, the two men zig-zagged down the mountainside, with their strange equipage, in a temperature of 10 degrees below zero, reaching the hospital before the stork arrived.

EAT 25,000 TROUT

MORGAN CITY, Iowa, April 15.—Twenty-five thousand trout, bass, and perch to be served in one vast, boneless, court bouillon are planned for consumption on National Fireman's day, May 17, according to the chairman of the executive committee. Five thousand eggs and 150 gallons of coffee also will be served at the feast.

Los Angeles is spending hundreds of thousands of dollars a year in advertising the metropolitan area," he said, "and Glendale is getting no more than a normal ratio of this incoming population, while suburban cities that are advertising are getting an altogether larger proportion of this influx."

"We could find no better nucleus for an advertising campaign to the public than

MANY BENEFITS TO BUSINESS IN GROWTH OF CITY

Earle C. Pendroy Asserts Campaign Will Meet Further Prosperity

The property owners of Glendale have benefited more than the business men by the rapid growth of this city in recent years, Earle C. Pendroy of the Pendroy Dry Goods company told the assemblage of prominent local people gathered last night at the Oakmont Country club to launch a $50,000 advertising campaign.

It is, therefore, the property owners, as well as the business men, who should be called upon for subscriptions to the advertising fund now being raised, he said.

Build Larger Store
Admitting that it would affect him materially as a property owner to have the population of Glendale doubled, Mr. Pendroy said that the effect on his business would be that he would have to build a larger store.

This would be the general result of $50,000 or more spent in advertising Glendale, Mr. Pendroy pointed out. A bigger city means not only increased business and increased values, but additional safety for all existing investments, he said.

Must Advertise
"An unadvertised product, no matter how good, can't stand up alongside the advertised article," declared Charles R. Stewart, advertising and publicity expert, who has aided in the preliminary educational campaign leading up to the opening of the present plan to raise the $50,000 advertising fund for Glendale.

"California is spending millions in advertising through various agencies," he continued. "There are California Inc., the All Year Club of Southern California, the Del Monte people, the Sunkist products, the trans-continental railroads, the steamship lines, the raisin, walnut, prune and olive growers, and many others, all are boosting California. And Glendale can cash in on every dollar's worth of that advertising if she will only make an effort to attract those who come in here on the crest of the wave that is setting toward California now."

It Cannot Fail
"Other cities in the southland possess assets known all over the world. Hollywood has its Bowl and its Egyptian theatre; Riverside has its Mission Inn; San Bernardino its Orange Show; Santa Barbara specializes in its yacht races and its famous hotels; and every last one of these things is advertising pure and simple. What has Glendale got to offset this competition?"

Mr. Stewart said that he is interested in Glendale for two reasons—he owns property here and he has studied community advertising for years, and he has never known advertising to fail when a community carries it out on a well-arranged plan to a logical conclusion.

Circuitous Route for Messages to Winsted

WINSTED, Conn., April 15.—Someone in St. Louis addressed a letter to "Gilbert School, Winsted, California," and dropped it into the mails. In another two weeks the letter arrived where it should be, in Gilbert School, Winsted, Conn., bearing the marks of its journey from St. Louis to the west coast and back to the east coast.

SAXOPHONE IN SAXONY

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The only saxophone in Saxony is attracting so much attention that special police guards are kept in front of the shop which exhibits it to keep the crowds in order, reports Consul D. S. Haven at Leipzig. Jazz music has taken Saxony's cabarets by storm, says the consul.

Invest Some Profits In Telling About Glendale

Declaring that Glendale has been very fortunate in its record growth since 1910, W. E. Evans last night told the Chamber of Commerce gathering at the Oakmont Country club that it is high time this city began to spend money in advertising, as such rival cities as Santa Monica and Alhambra are doing.

Mr. Evans spoke of a recent visit to New York and the surprise that was his on beholding electric lights at the corner of 43rd street and Broadway.

"Los Angeles is spending hundreds of thousands of dollars a year in advertising the metropolitan area," he said, "and Glendale is getting no more than a normal ratio of this incoming population, while suburban cities that are advertising are getting an altogether larger proportion of this influx."

"We could find no better nucleus for an advertising campaign to the public than

FUND TO FURTHER ADVERTISE CITY

A. T. Cowan States Money To Go In Publications Of National Area

Comparison of Glendale's position with that of other cities of the state was voiced by A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News, who declared that this city stood fifth in the entire state in the building totals for March, leading the cities that are doing so much of the advertising one sees today.

A stand commensurate with Glendale's position, Mr. Cowan maintained, would permit Glendale to outstrip still further the rival communities of the Southland, and he advocated the raising of a fund that would permit the carrying on of a campaign that would be productive of real results.

Mr. Cowan took care to emphasize for the information of those present that the fund that is being raised would be expended in publications of national circulation, and that the advertising would not be confined to any narrow or limited area, but would reach out all over the country to draw new residents and new trade to Glendale.

Councilman Davis
"Up till two years ago the only advertising Glendale got was the sign on the front of the Pacific Electric cars when they left Sixth and Main streets, Los Angeles," said Councilman Sam A. Davis.

"We have never put anything into this town. We have been taking it out and profiting by the publicity that Uncle Sam's reports and the realtors' boasting have given us. What can't we do if we get some real advertising?"

"Very frequently, at meetings like this, there is too much oratory. We talk a lot and then go home without doing anything. Let's have a change this time."

"Let's subscribe here and now."

BOOTLEG QUEEN RULES 'RUM ROW'

Former Steno Has Amassed Fortune In Illicit Liquor Traffic

NEW YORK, April 15.—Gertrude Lythgoe, the "Queen of the Bootleggers," this young woman, born of Scottish parents and formerly a stenographer in San Francisco, has a strangle hold on practically all the booze business in Nassau, Bahamas, where the rum-runners who rush the liquor into the United States get their supplies.

Miss Lythgoe has made more than a million dollars and went into the shady business off the coast.

Often, when in need of adventure, she has loaded up her steam yacht with cases of "Scotch" and champagne and joined the rum fleet off the Long Island coast to sell her products to the lesser rum-runners.

She is a handy person with the revolver and boasts that no bootlegger (and there are some slick and daring individuals among them) ever got the better of her in a deal.

Bucks Stock Market
She is quite proud of her title, "Queen of the Bootleggers," and tried to beat the stock market as she has the rum game. She lost the money in a month and went back to Nassau a sadder and wiser girl.

She hopes to make much more than a million this year, as she is getting a profit from the producing end. She negotiated a loan for the purchase of a half-interest in a large distillery in Scotland and will handle the sale of its products.

In Nassau and on "Rum Row" in New York harbor they call her "Cleo," for Cleopatra. She likes the name.

Blood pressure of negroes in this country is said to be higher than that of white people here.

GIVES EVIDENCE OF GREAT VALUE FROM PUBLICITY

F. P. Newport, Pioneer In Development Work; Tells Reasons for Program

Declaring that he himself has spent as high as $75,000 a year in advertising, F. P. Newport of the F. P. Newport company, realtors, of Los Angeles and Glendale, told the business and professional men assembled last night at the Oakmont Country club that the Chamber of Commerce plan to spend $50,000 in advertising this city during 1924 is small indeed, in per capita cost, as compared with the advertising programs that have been carried out by other cities.

The average for such advertising funds is $2 per capita, Mr. Newport told his audience. At that rate, Glendale should raise $100,000. Sums of money such as this city is raising seem large only to those not familiar with modern advertising costs and results, he said.

Tells Some Effects
To illustrate his remarks, Mr. Newport traced the history of a well-known brand of bread, from its humble beginning in a little one-oven bakery, to the point where today seventy-five trucks are required to make daily deliveries in Los Angeles, and all accomplished through advertising.

Some of the effects that might be expected as a result of expending $50,000 in telling the world about Glendale were outlined by Mr. Newport, who contrasted this city with Hollywood, with its population of 100,000 and values as high as $4200 a front foot on Hollywood boulevard. Glendale, with 50,000 people and values of $1000 a front foot along Brand boulevard, could be expected to show similar price increases, following population increases that will result from extensive advertising.

Gets Good Returns
"I am a social realist, thoroughly sold on it," declared Mr. Newport. "My organization has spent as high as $20,000 a year in local advertising—and I am frank to state that I have been repaid ten for one for every dollar I have spent in advertising. My books are open to prove this."

"Like Topsy, Glendale has just grown," but that time is past. If this city is to continue to enjoy remarkable growth, it will have to be advertised, the way Alhambra and other competitive southern California cities are advertising.

"This is no time to be a Gloomy Gus. Either we must get the business, or the other fellow will get it. There is no place in southern California that can be better sold than Glendale. It has everything—hills, scenic beauty, climate, convenience; in fact, comparison of this section with the Beverly Hills section is all in favor of Glendale."

They Must Be Told
"But the outside public can't see this unless it is put before them by advertising. They must be told that Glendale has all these things, just as any big advertiser tells the public about his product. Big men are going to spend millions of dollars in Glendale, and there are many others who would do the same if they knew of its unique advantages."

"Every property owner, every merchant, every resident of Glendale will be benefited by the advertising campaign about to be launched. More population means not only increased residential and business property values, but more trade, more employment and more prosperity."

Following is a list of communities, furnished by Mr. Newport, showing their population, their advertising funds and the per capita cost of such campaigns:

Greeley, population 3000, budget raised $22,000, per capita $7.35; Kingsburg, population 2000, budget raised $13,000, per capita $6.50; Marysville, population 5500, budget raised $25,300, per capita $4.65; Dinuba, population 4500, budget raised $16,415, per capita $3.64; Tulare, population 6250, budget raised $16,000, per capita $3.04; Calao, population 800, budget raised $12,000, per capita $15; Ventura, population 2700 budget raised $16,000, per capita $5.90; Santa Paula, population 5000, budget raised $15,000, per capita $3; Riverside, population 23,000, budget raised $35,000, per capita $1.52.

New Jap Hot Springs Attributed to Quake

TOKIO, April 15.—Hot springs have been reported in various sections affected by the recent earthquake in Japan. In the Hakone district, near Miyazoshita and Hakone-machi, it is claimed a score or more such springs have appeared since the great quake of September 1.

One of the most recent new springs reported since January 15 is in Nichi-misaka, Boshu, far south of Tokio. This section is near Atami, which has long been famous for its natural hot springs, and many believe that its source is in Atami.

DANGER IN ARMS RIVALRY FEARED BY GEN. MAURICE

High British Officer Sees Threat of Warfare in Present Reaction

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, April 15.—After a wild spell of reduction of armaments, Great Britain has now started on a policy of increasing armaments, and we are back where we were before 1914," declared Major-General Sir Frederick Maurice, in a statement to International News Service.

"We have often been dragged willy-nilly into Continental wars; we shall be forced in again as sure as fate, unless we help to limit the danger of war," General Maurice warned.

"The Singapore base, the building of the five cruisers, and the increase in the air force have brought the problem of armaments into the foreground once more," General Maurice said.

"A battleship base at Singapore would bring us into direct naval competition with Japan."

"The increase in the air force is solely and wholly due to the number of aircraft which France possesses."

Race Is On
"We are, therefore, definitely committed to rivalry in armaments with one Power and possibly with another, for I have my doubts as to whether the Singapore scheme is as dead as it is proclaimed to be."

"This year we are having naval maneuvers by great fleets in the Mediterranean, which Frenchmen regard as a not too gentle reminder that their plans for calling in Africa to redress the balance in Europe is dependent for its success upon our goodwill."

"A curious position to have reached in this year of grace, is it not? How on earth have we got there? Certainly not because we wanted to be in the embarrassing position of proposing to build naval bases against our friend, Japan, or of actually building aeroplanes against our friend, France. It was because we would not or could not look ahead."

"After the war we cut down our armaments to the very minimum. We did this without any proper consideration of what our commitments were and without any consideration of the armaments of other Powers."

Learned Danger
"Then one morning we awoke to the fact that the French could bomb London whenever they were likely to be mad enough to wish to do so. So, after a wild spell of reduction of armaments, we have now started on a policy of increasing armaments and are back where we were before 1914."

"We stand to gain as much as any country in Europe by walking with others and taking our part in a general agreement," General Maurice said in complaining that Great Britain has never fully endorsed the League of Nations' efforts for disarmament.

"Our frontiers may not be exposed to invasion, but our towns are liable to be bombed and our people to be starved."

Fear of More War
"It is far harder now to arrive at a satisfactory agreement upon armaments than it would have been if we had supported the conclusion of such an agreement in 1920. But even now it is not too late to try. The alternative is a will inevitably become keener and competition in armaments, which will end where it ended in 1914."

START ATTACK ON UNIFORM DRESS

Los Angeles Misses Request
Referendum; No Laws
Requiring It

SACRAMENTO, April 15.—Uniformity in the matter of dress while attending the public schools can not be enforced, according to an opinion rendered by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan at the request of Miss Theresa Grohs and Miss Sophie Chernus, students at the Jefferson high school in Los Angeles.

"We consider it an insult to our intelligence to be forced to dress according to what others think is correct," complained the two Los Angeles misses in their letter to Jordan. "And to have to wear those horrid, deadly uniforms day in and day out is, to say the least, depressing," they concluded.

Controversy is imminent in southern school circles as a result of the establishment of uniform dress for girls attending the Jefferson high school, it is said.

Nothing in Code
The two girls also asked Jordan if it were possible to "start a recall or referendum by procuring signatures to petitions."

"I find nothing in the state codes to compel the wearing of any particular uniform or dress by pupils in the public schools," said Jordan. "In fact I find in a decision rendered by Hon. K. S. Mahon in the case of Doak vs. Sauber, that quite the contrary ruling was made, the court holding that no particular uniform is necessary to the performance of school duties."

Nevertheless the secretary of state is contemplating the eventuality of a referendum on the

Airedale Pup Acts As Foster Mother To Lonely Chick

HYNES, April 15.—An Airedale pup owned by Paul Crook has adopted a baby chick, hatched several days before the rest of the family. The dog frolics about the tiny fowl, always careful to keep from stepping on it, while the hairy breast of the dog offers a warm nesting place for the adopted child.

Demands Payment of Claim for Crude Oil

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Maude E. Sullivan, Fullerton, owns a one-third interest in $5000 the Standard Oil company was to pay for crude oil produced on land near her home. Up to the present time she says the Standard Oil has paid $47,000 of $55,000 that it owes. Her money, however, must come out of the payment of $5000. She asks that the court require its immediate payment.

Bootlegger on Main Boulevard, Is Charge

MODERN VALJEAN HELD IN CHICAGO

Fled Reform School Through Sewer and Rough Seas
as Stowaway

CHICAGO, April 15.—A wild story of crawling through sewers, hiding in coal bunkers of trans-Atlantic vessels, scrubbing decks and bumbling rides was told by 19-year-old John Herbert when he was brought into the juvenile court for loitering on the streets. Boy Scout Judge Clarence Burnham and his attendants, who were on duty when the Scouts recently took over the management of the city, were left amazed by young Herbert's story, which rivaled that of Jean Valjean.

John's wanderings began in 1921, he told the Scout judge, when, to save his father from paying a mortgage, he burned the paper. He was sentenced to spend a year in a reform school at Washburn, Va., for this act, he testified. "My home is in Washington, and I wanted to get back," he said, "so one night, after I had been in the reform school for about six months, I broke away. The authorities started after me, but I slipped into a sewer and eluded them. I crawled through this sewer for about a mile and a half, finally reaching the Atlantic seacoast."

Ships in Coal Bunker

After emerging from the sewer, he said, he wandered into a small shipping town, where he managed to sneak aboard a Danish ship, which he thought was going to Cuba. But after hiding in the coal bunkers for four days he came out in search of food and found that the ship was in mid-ocean, bound for France. He pleaded with the captain for something to eat, but said he had to scrub the decks before he was given anything.

He told how, on his arrival in Nantes, France, he tried to get back to this country by stowing away in an outbound ship. "But this ship took me to Hamburg instead of America. I couldn't understand the language and could get no work. At night I slept on the decks, and the sailors gave me something to eat when I was hungry," he told his listeners.

Finally he got aboard a ship headed for London. On his arrival there, however, he could not give a satisfactory account of himself and was taken into custody by the port authorities.

Reaches Chicago
Eventually he was deported to New Orleans, he said. From that city he walked, "rode the blinds" and was given lifts by motorists until he finally landed in Chicago, where he was "picked up" by the cops.

"I want to go back to my father," he told the young judge, who had listened to his tale with as much awe as a boy reading an exciting adventure story. "My father will take me back, I know it," he concluded.

The youthful jurist showed leniency and ordered the young globe trotter held until his story could be verified.

Didn't Pay Any Rent Or Bills; Wife Sues

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Benjamin Peterson, San Pedro, owner of the Southern California Forwarding company, didn't pay the rent on his home and was forced to move out. He bought furniture and didn't pay for it, his wife claims in a divorce suit filed today. Household supplies were not paid for, she alleges. Bill collectors and collection agencies made life miserable for her, the complaint asserts. Mr. Peterson makes a net profit of $500 a month with his forwarding company, his wife says.

Three Graduates Are Chosen Lieutenants

BERKELEY, April 15.—Arthur W. Ellis, William A. Hamilton and John M. Reynolds, members of the graduating class of the University of California, have been appointed to second lieutenantcies in the United States Marine Corps, subject to successful passing of a physical examination, according to a recent letter from Major General John A. Lejeune to Colonel Nance of the military science department of the university. The privilege given the university of naming three of its graduates for these commissions comes as a result of the high rating of the institution with the government.

The commissions will be issued as soon as the appointees successfully pass a physical examination, no other examination being required of them. Their university diplomas are accepted as satisfactory evidence of their educational qualifications, while the recommendation as to their character by the president of the university is also relied upon.

The University of California, for many years has been ranked as a "distinguished military college" by the war department and this latest recognition is ample evidence of the high standing which is given the scholarship of its graduates.

Eleven Executed by Mexican Firing Squad

MEXICO CITY, April 15.—Eleven members of the staff of General Villareal, former minister of agriculture, were executed by a federal firing squad at Ciudad Victoria, state of Tamaulipas, said a despatch from that city today. Villareal's rebel band was ambushed at Xicoteni yesterday, but the commandant escaped.

Advocates Reducing Number of Studies

SACRAMENTO, April 15.—Proposed reduction of the number of statutory subjects taught in the elementary schools was given strong endorsement today by W. W. Campbell, president of the University of California, in a letter to Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public institutions. "In my opinion the reducing of the number of subjects taught in the elementary schools will have a profound influence upon the personal character and scholarship of the children affected," said the university president. "The University of California will be glad to lend its moral support to the translating of this policy into actuality."

IRONTOWN, O., April 15.—The Marting Iron and Steel Company of this city, a $2,000,000 concern, is headed by Mrs. Nellie M. Lowry, widow of the late Dr. A. Clark Lowry, who died several weeks ago.

Fresh From Farm; Tie Up Chicago's Traffic

CHICAGO, Apr. 15.—They were fresh from the farm and unaccustomed to the city ways. So the whole eighteen of 'em disregarded the traffic signals and went in for jay walking, jay running and jay flying.

In less than a minute traffic was hopelessly tangled, three policemen and a large number of passers-by were chasing them and at least 500 persons were watching them.

You see, they were eighteen chickens and they were jostled out of their crates when the motor truck in which they were riding hit a bump at Lake street and Wabash avenue late yesterday.

All but one were apprehended. That one escaped somewhere in an office building, and it is thought the engineer will soon have a chicken dinner.

Woman Hurt In Crash Ask Huge Damages

ADDS EQUIPMENT TO COMBAT CRIME

Tear Gas Bombs and Deadly Guns to Aid Police in Stopping Crooks

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Preparations for bitter warfare upon criminals, particularly the kind that leave death in their wake, have been completed by Chief of Police August Vollmer with the receipt of "riot guns and several hundred 'tear bombs' and their distribution to the various police divisions. The new guns are in reality portable machine guns capable of using a lead ball. The bullets, which are steel covered, can pierce armorplate half an inch thick and tear through the body of the average automobile without even losing its penetrating power.

The "tear-gas" bombs have been issued to the men whose duty it is to answer fast calls. Although capable of rendering a man or a crowd of persons helpless within a few seconds the bombs are harmless so far as after effects are concerned.

Sawed-off shot guns and rifles will still play an important part in police equipment, it was stated.

Pet birds contract rheumatism and have indigestion and fevers, according to a doctor that successfully treats them in New York City.

Used Kellogg's Bran 2 months—constipation gone after suffering 3 years

Three years of suffering with constipation. What happiness was his when Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, restored his health. But read his letter.

"Dear Sirs: This is what I think of your krumbled bran. I would not be without it for anything in the world. For three years I used all kinds of medicines for constipation, and only got temporary relief. I was advised by a doctor to use Kellogg's Bran, and since I began using it I don't have to take pills or anything else. I have used it two months, and my constipation has left me. I feel better now than I have for three years."

(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran brings results because it is ALL bran. You can't fight constipation with halfway measure—with bran which are only part bran. It takes ALL bran to be 100 per cent effective.

Because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts naturally—just as nature acts. It stimulates the intestine and makes it function regularly. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will refund your money.

Kellogg's Bran has a delicious nut-like flavor. Quite different from ordinary, unpalatable bran. You will like it as a cereal, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

Eat two tablespoonsfuls of Kellogg's Bran every day—in chronic cases, with every meal. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

EARLY TIMES IN VALLEY RECALLED

Pioneer Woman Scouts Idea Of Loneliness Even if Utilities Missing

our destination, a change of cars was made to a crazy little car on the branch made famous in the story of Barbara Worth. The windows rattled and the car lurched on its irregular roadbed, but one arrived safely and the night was spent, or rather endured, in a screened bedroom in an arcade built over the sidewalk of the village hotel.

Below Sea Level In the office you learned that you were below sea level nine feet but on mounting to the second story one was "On the level."

A few days later found the family installed on "No. 5" as that canal that brought the water to that district was called. The canals were numbered except one called "the High Line" and the ditches were named, Plum, Pine, Hawthorn, etc.

A comfortable five room California house with screened sleeping porch, thirty feet long, the screening running clear to the floor on account of the intense heat was the home of the intense heat. A modern bath tub and kitchen sink were supplied with water from the tank above the artesian well 500 feet deep which brought up pure soft water about 102 degrees in temperature. This seemed a great advantage when laundry or dish-washing was the job but how one did long for a cold drink of water if the ice ran low or the red stone olla was empty.

An acetylene plant furnished light and a two burner plate in the kitchen supplemented the cook stove with its pile of mesquite wood which had not been chopped down but had been dug out of the sand dunes.

Phone Beat Radio As for loneliness, there were only forty-two subscribers all on the same telephone line in that district, and when you wanted to talk you took down the receiver and when there was a lull "just butted in." It had a radio beat a mile as a news disseminator.

And all this on the desert which had been under the ditch less than a decade.

But, to confess the truth very few in those days had these comforts. The flapping canvas of the deserted tent house showed the discouragement of some being ataining a degree of comfort. Others stayed by it and in a few years were prosperous ranchers.

One story comes to mind of a neighbor, a six feet two Texan with his pretty little wife and baby in a shack by the roadside set down right in the black alkali which crusted your shoes like tar when you stepped in it. They were renters but had a good crop of cotton over on the ditch and were making a brave fight. They had only ditch water which must be settled before using either for drinking or laundry work so they usually hauled water from the artesian well before mentioned. At the suggestion of the writer to save the labor of hauling, the laundry was brought over and done under the arrow weed ramada at the west of the house, and the baby was deposited on the bed in the big airy screen porch while that process was going on.

No loneliness at that ranch. Some one was always coming to use the phone to order water or frequently to talk to Los Angeles.

Cooling Baby Off The writer does not deny that the pictures drawn of the long hot nights and still hotter days are true. An amusing incident occurred which will illustrate this. The baby in the shack was unusually restless in the heat and it occurred to the young mother to tuck the little one way on the shelf of one of those improvised coolers whose burlap walls were kept constantly wet by a tank dripping water.

The cooler had been discarded for the new refrigerator but served an equally good purpose in furnishing a crib for the baby in the intolerable heat and dryness of the desert. And it was all the more amusing when two small nephews observing the content of the baby installed two puppies in the lower shelf.

In relating the incident to some Montana friends a confusion as to cooler and refrigerator arose and ever after the Montana people told how babies were kept in refrigerators in the Imperial valley.

A later experience of a year in the Coachella valley where irrigation is done by deep wells pumped by electric power, which also furnishes the housewife in the shack power to run the most modern appliances by electricity. The writer remembers a Berkeley woman who, although living in a shack, in the midst of a date orchard, had all the modern appliances, cooking range, washing machine, iron and lights.

Electric Fixtures A visit to the home of Professor Howe, formerly of Glendale, superintendent of the Coachella Union High school, showed more sockets for the attachment of electrical appliances than the average Glendale home and that, too, not in the town but out in the farming country two miles off the highway.

The hardships may be there and a number of other drawbacks but the loneliness in this day and age—No.

Grey linens instead of white are being considered for use in the operating rooms of hospitals, the last named color producing too great a strain on the eyes.

Maximum speed for safe working on wet grindstones is 3200 ft., and for dry stones 4000 feet a minute.

ASKS HELP ON BETTER HOMES

Peter Hanson Urges Support Of Movement to Foster Civic Pride

seems hitched to a star, and the heavens alone limit the heights of achievement.

"Better homes develop the aesthetic and beautiful. The road from primitive cave to modern mansion is paved with the longings of the human heart. Each mile-post is marked with a 'Better Home' sign. The innate cravings of man reached out for the home. Mother instinct clamored for the betterment of her offspring. Through the long years the battle for the beautiful went on in the home. In it the yearnings took root. Out of it they bloomed and flowered. And all the home beauty we cherish and enjoy today comes out of the better home struggle of the centuries."

"Better homes involve the moral and spiritual. No force leaves its moral impress more than the influence of home. It instills ideals. It moulds character. It directs destinies. No mightier power invades the realm of the spiritual. 'As a man thinketh, so is he.' Into the heart go the deepest vibrations. Out of the home come the higher inspirations. Whether we wield them for good or for bad—whether we scatter or are in tune with the infinite—it is the home that determines the kind.

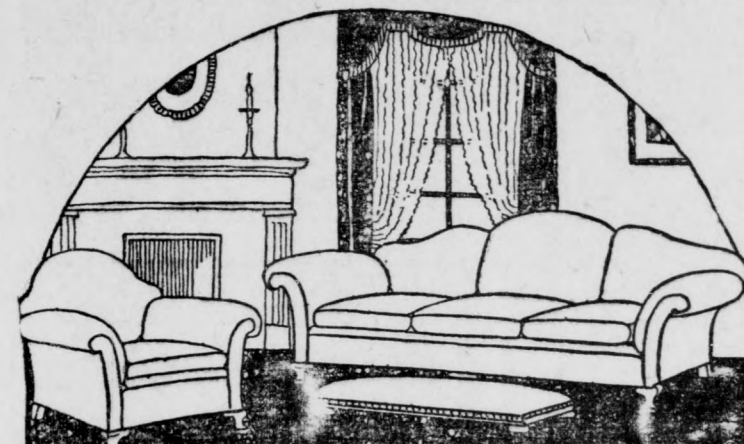

Symbol of Love "The home is the nurturing ground of mother love. Out of the travail of child birth, over the croonings of the cradle, through the long night watches of the sick, room, from scripping and saving and suffering—out of these God made the mother heart. And the first fruits are tenderness, compassion and long-suffering. Heart and home is woman's heritage to human kind. Her hearthstone is seasoned with love and garnished with kindness.

"The home is the living lump of the nation. It is the foundation of her national security. It is the safety valve in the struggle of existence. It is the balance wheel of justice. It is the birthplace of great forward movements. It is the fountain of our ideals, the pedestal of our inspirations.

"Being, therefore, encompassed about with such a company of witnesses, we must carry on the quest. Our ideal is yonder 'Better Home.' The urge is ahead. With Paul, 'We press toward the prize of the high calling.' The heritage of home is our God-given institution. We can make it what we will. It may be a fern or a flower, it may be a painting or a rug, it may be hospitality or helpful hand, it may be a rearranged room, or a friendly grasp, that marks the kind. But whatever it be, we sponsor the making. What, then, shall the making be? Shall it befriend the

SAYS TELEPHONE SYSTEM AT FAULT NEED OF ENGLISH IN SCHOOLS, TOLD SHEEP MEN WILL CREATE MARKETS

Fire Loss Increase Due to Inadequate Service, Says Los Angeles Chief

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Fire Chief R. J. Scott contends that because of the delays encountered by the public in reporting fire by telephone, the fire losses of this section of the state are increasing thousands of dollars annually.

The chief also let it be known that recently he tried to call the central fire department office on urgent business and that after eleven minutes delay he was forced to abandon his efforts without results, although the office he was trying to reach carries eleven trunk lines.

The present inadequate telephone service, the chief declared, only accentuates the necessity of installing immediately a more extensive fire and police telephone and telegraph system.

SEEK OWNERS OF CERTIFICATES FOR NATURALIZATION

Many Men Who Secured Citizenship by Service Have No Records

"It is an amazing fact," states Hon. James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor in a letter to James F. Collins, state commander of the American Legion which he has forwarded to Joseph A. Wilson, commander of the local post, "that of the 278,513 men who served in the military or naval forces of the United States, who were naturalized since the declaration of war in 1917, over 15,000 have not received their copies of the certificates of their naturalization held for them in the Bureau of Naturalization."

Eighteen thousand of the "defenders of the nation" lack evidence of their citizenship, and the Secretary of Labor has enlisted the aid of the national organization of the American Legion in an effort to locate the delinquents. These citizens were naturalized during mobilization in camps, and in courts throughout the country while the military units were being transferred from the mobilization camps to the theater of war.

Certificates Valued
"It is of the utmost importance," states the Secretary, "to these men and their families that they obtain evidence of their citizenship. Property and personal privileges and rights are involved, not only of the individuals naturalized, but of their families as well. The minor children of a naturalized soldier or sailor if born abroad but now residing in this country, are entitled to the benefit of the parent's naturalization."

The widows and minor children of deceased heroes who served during the world war, are entitled to the protection afforded citizens and their dependents. Without evidence of the citizenship of the husband, the wife or widow would have difficulty in proving her American citizenship."

American Legion posts throughout the country have been requested to ask their members to advise their naturalized comrades to take immediate steps to secure their certificates of naturalization. The National Headquarters of the Legion recently furnished with a complete list of the names of those whose certificates are awaiting their application in order that assistance may be given by the posts to those members needing advice.

PLANS TO PAINT STARS OF SCREEN

Czecho-Slovak Artist Will Show Hollywood's Soul On His Canvas

By LANNIE HAYNES MARTIN
For Southland News Service
HOLLYWOOD, April 15.—Never again can it be said that there is nothing new under the sun, or at least under the calcium, for Hollywood is going to have its soul painted!

Vladimir Shamberk, noted Czecho-Slovak painter, the man who has done more madonnas than any other living artist, has recently moved to the film center for the express purpose of painting stars.

"Because I was an actor before I became a painter, because I understand the ideals, the souls of actors, I am going to paint them as I know them to be. I am going to paint Nazimova, as the great emotional poet Sappho, Not the sensuous, cynical Sappho, but the grief-stricken woman agonizing over the desertion of her lover, ready to leap over the cliff in despair. Nazimova is the greatest expressionist of women and I will make her portrait a composite Greek of all the tragic characters she has portrayed."

"My subjects never sit for my portraits. I have them move about, recite, act, dance, sing, anything to bring about a play of emotion. Charlie Chaplin I always see as Hamlet. I have gone to every screen play of his since he began appearing and I always see the pathos in his comedy and the tragedy in his face. He would make a magnificent Hamlet on the legitimate stage."

Mary as Cordelia
"I see Mary Pickford as the modest, gentle Cordelia, King Lear's dutiful and faithful daughter. I know of no living woman who could so beautifully portray that admirable character. In the deep suffering face of William S. Hart I see the pity and sorrow of the Savior. He would have made an excellent model for the old masters' paintings of the crucifixion."

Shamberk's mother was a famous Bohemian actress, and his father was a celebrated European playwright. He has been a prolific painter for many years and Guido Bruno, well known critic, said of him recently: "No one since Holbein has known how to paint and draw as he does. His color scheme is perfect and his draftsmanship without fault."

Charles A. Wrightman, millionaire Chicago art collector has endowed Shamberk with a life legacy so he may paint as he wills.

There has recently been installed in Paris an institution where persons suffering from mental afflictions can voluntarily enter for any period of time necessary for recovery.

COMMENT That's All

Hollywood Good Neighbor Improvements In The News More Industries Needed Southland's Great Gain

By Gil A. Cowan

What a hallucination to the stranger Hollywood really is! And what a pleasant neighbor community to Glendale.

From the standpoint of commercial life and activity Hollywood is very similar to Glendale, but it holds no glamour, to speak of for the romancer who comes to the film capital "over the hill" from Glendale.

And that is not all. Hollywood, to many, is the rock that wrecks hopes, for in the mystic name they do not find the fame they feel they are deserving.

Of course, it's the town, not "you," as the poem goes. For those who have had dreams die in Hollywood, we can only reply by saying we know of no pleasanter place.

Have you noticed the improvements in the columns of The Glendale Evening News recently? Always at it—something that is better than before—that is the program. And you should be proud to mail this paper to your friends in the east.

Evening News to all newcomers. Get them to become members of the great family of readers.

More reliance on the "back country" of Southern California was urged Monday at a meeting of the Greater Los Angeles association by Willis Cohn who has just completed an industrial survey of the southland. And in this conclusion he is correct.

The metropolis of the Pacific southwest needs industries which are homogeneous to the products of its surrounding territory. Harry Chandler, noted publisher, followed this thought when he said that no industries should be encouraged here until conditions assure them of success.

Southern California is expanding so rapidly that a word of caution, as well as enthusiasm, is necessary to business. Greater scrutiny should be given industrial development to assure a firm foundation in empire building. What holds true for the immediate vicinity of Los Angeles is equally true in Fresno or San Diego or Bakersfield or San Bernardino.

Illustrative of the growth in this district, Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue, said that the southland made 25 per cent of the industrial growth of the United States in the last year. This is pleasing, no doubt, to the native booster, yet in building for permanency the enterprises which honestly merit support should be given full measure, while those which are hypothetical should be given the acid test of practicality.

No one has a right to expect people to back wildcat projects, yet the business man of experience who opens the gates of opportunity should be accorded the heartiest co-operation. In the California Development association, the Greater Los Angeles association and kindred organizations, we have a balance wheel which will bring to this favored clime the ultimate of industry.

Child Slightly Hurt When Struck by Auto

Running across the street on an errand for his mother, Mrs. Joseph L. Huntington of La Cress, who had parked her machine on Broadway near Howard street, yesterday afternoon, John Huntington, 10, darted in front of a machine driven by G. C. Hess and was knocked to the pavement.

He appeared to be none the worse for the accident, but was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital as a precautionary measure. It developed there that his injuries were not serious.

Fined $25 Each for Drunkenness Charge

Three men, W. E. Raymond, 115 North Western avenue; O. J. Suchman, 1222 Royden drive, and P. N. Byrd, 1335 West Thirty-Seventh place, all of Los Angeles, were arrested last night on East Broadway by Sergeant H. A. Stanford and Officer J. C. Claxton, charged with being drunk. They were seated in a roadster at the side of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital at this morning's usual fine, $25, was assessed by Judge F. H. Lowe in each case.

World consumption of copper for eight months last year gave an estimated annual rate of 2,750,000,000 pounds.

Two In Brood of Turkeys Hatched With Extra Parts

SEELEY, Cal., April 15.—Mrs. Floyd Maples recently set nine turkey eggs under a hen. Eight of the eggs hatched and two of the brood were embellished with more than goes with normal birds.

One chick had two bills and three eyes. The bills were side by side and the third eye was above and between the two bills.

Another of the chicks had two sets of legs, two in front and two behind. Both died in their infancy and Mrs. Maples preserved the three-eyed bird to corroborate her story.

ASKS AID IN WAR ON FIRE MENACE

Urges Co-operation of Every Class of Citizen to Protect Forests

SACRAMENTO, April 15.—Declaring that most of the disastrous fires which raged last summer in California, causing loss of life and destroying watershed and forest timber to the value of many millions of dollars primarily were due to carelessness, State Forester M. B. Pratt has called upon the citizens to observe Forest Protection week, April 21-27, by pledging co-operation with state and federal officials in preventing a recurrence of such fires in 1924. The State Forester in part said: "Last year California was the worst fire state in the Union because its citizens were careless with fire. Seventy per cent of the fires were man-caused and as such could have been avoided. The fires that cost six human lives last season, as well as those that destroyed part of Berkeley, most of the town of El Dorado, Boyes Springs resort, and twenty cottages on the Russian river, all were the result of carelessness."

Unregulated fires are a menace to the prosperity of the state, and have been so regarded since 1793 when the Spanish Governor Arrillaga issued a proclamation calling attention to the fires started by Indians and offering liberal rewards for the check of the fires that were devastating the Coast Range of Southern California. There can be no doubt that those fires of the eighteenth century were responsible for the destruction of forest growth in the vicinity of Santa Barbara and other coast sections.

"We must have the closest co-operation from the public this summer," concluded Pratt.

PSYCHOLOGIST AT GATEWAY THEATER

Mystery Man Who Baffled Members of Committee Appears Tonight

Charles F. Haynes, eminent psychologist and man of mystery, who yesterday met successfully the difficult test imposed by a committee headed by Mayor Spencer Robinson, will appear again tonight in person at the Gateway theater, it is announced by the management.

No such baffling stunt has ever been put on in Glendale as that in which Mr. Haynes yesterday noon located a hidden key while blindfolded, took the key to the Community Savings & Commercial bank, selected the right safe, deposited box, took out a sealed and unaddressed envelope and, still blindfolded, delivered it to the person whose name was written inside. A. B. Bonham of Bonham & Wagner, hardware merchants.

Charles F. Haynes claims that he reads the mind and in this way is able to perform his astounding feats. The act he stages at the Gateway theater is not only entertaining, but highly instructive. It is in addition to the regular showing of "Name the Man," the great Hall Caine story.

Continue Proceedings To Condemn Property

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Condemnation proceedings brought by the city of Pasadena against the property of H. E. Butard, Valletta and others who own property in the district of Seco street and Hayden Drive were scheduled to continue today in the superior court. The property is desired by the city for the construction of improvements to control flood and storm waters. An ordinance providing for the improvement was adopted by the city more than a year ago. Purchase of the property has been delayed, however, because of a dispute as to its value. The court now will stipulate the price to be paid. Dantonville, in an answer filed several months ago, asked the court to award him $34,920 for his property. The action is being tried before Judge Victor R. Lucas.

Japanese Admiral to Inspect L. A. Harbor

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Admiral H. Taketa, chairman of the largest shipbuilding plant in Japan, has arrived at the Biltmore hotel here in company with his corps of construction engineers and will investigate the harbor and shipbuilding plants at San Pedro. The admiral is visiting practically all of the major powers on his trip. No interviews were granted by him, but he seemed visibly impressed with the southland.

Davis Assumes Duties As Keyes' Secretary

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Harold "Buddy" L. Davis, prominent Los Angeles newspaperman, has assumed his duties as personal secretary and representative of District Attorney Asa Keyes. Mr. Davis was appointed to the office last week. Closer co-ordination of all departments under his supervision is expected by Keyes through the creation of the new post and appointment of Davis.

Poisoned By Cosmetics

EDWARD M. KIMBALL, prominent screen actor, and his wife, Mrs. Kimball, are now recovering from poisoning alleged to have been caused by a grease paint preparation. He intends to sue the manufacturers.

For Southland News Service
Edward M. Kimball, well known legitimate and screen actor, and father of the famous actress Clara Kimball Young, is recovering from a very serious and painful poisoning injury brought on by the use of a deadly grease paint which he used in the makeup for his character role in "Tess of D'Urberville" which is now being produced by Marshall Neilan at the Goldwyn Studio, and is contemplating taking legal action against the manufacturer of the lotion.

Soon after the use of the cosmetic Mr. Kimball's eyes swelled shut, his features were distorted and he lapsed into a state of coma for several hours. He was attended by two specialists and was confined to his bed for several days and was compelled to give up his part entirely in the film production.

Poisoned Again

When he was a few days convalescent he put on an old shirt he had worn in the picture and went out to work in his vegetable garden, which is his pride and recreation. Adhering to the neck of his shirt was some of the poisonous substance which had caused his illness before and in an hour's time his neck and face were swollen again and he was confined to his bed for a second time.

Besides the loss of time in his profession and the serious jeopardy to his life his illness has completely prostrated Mrs. Kimball who is now under the care of a physician.

Mr. Kimball is one of the best loved actors on the stage and has been prominent for the last 30 years. When asked recently if he did not feel jealous when introduced so frequently as the father of Clara Kimball Young, he said: "A child might feel jealous of over-shadowing reputation of a parent, but a parent never envies a child. It is always his hope that the child may have more joy, more success and make more progress in every way than he himself has achieved. If it were not so the world would not advance."

Mr. Kimball had a prominent part in Richard Walton Tully's recent production "The Masquerader" and frequently appears with his daughter in her various screen plays.

Realtor Injured In Automobile Accident

SAN PEDRO, April 15.—I. I. Morgan, prominent realtor of Wilmington, is confined to the General Hospital, Los Angeles, with serious injuries suffered when he was run down by an automobile driven by A. Rice, 1109 Prima avenue, Wilmington, at the intersection of Anaheim and Wilmington boulevards. Morgan was lodged between the gasoline tank and rear wheels of Rice's auto when Rice brought his car to a stop after striking the realtor. Police, convinced that the accident was unavoidable, did not hold Rice.

Forgery Trial Ends; Woman Admits Guilt

NEW YORK, April 15.—The trial of Mrs. Myrtle B. Hayes, middle-aged woman promoter, accused by Charles M. Schwab, the financier, of forging his name to notes aggregating $325,000, came to an abrupt close today when she pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted forgery in the third degree. She was on trial for forgery in the second degree. The court continued Mrs. Hayes' bail for two weeks.

NEW PLAY STIRS PARIS AUDIENCES

Latest Success Shows Only Beginning and End of Play Within Play

By ALICE LANGELEIR
By International News Service
PARIS, April 15.—A play within the play is the distinguishing feature of Maurice Rostand's latest drama, "The Sphinx," although all one sees of it is the scene before the curtain rises and a bit of scenery at the close.

It is a "first night," and the few rows of seats before the stage are filled with backbiters and critics familiar to all Parisian "premieres." The author, who later becomes the hero, Paris Celano, appears and explains to the audience that his play will not be given. He tears up his manuscript before them and scatters the bits to the people departing in anger.

The play within the play was also called "The Sphinx," and the next act finds the author in Egypt, retired from all active writing, but under the persuasion of his chief interpreter, who begs him to return to the stage. Just at this moment the Sphinx calls: "Venez, venez!" (Come, come to me.)

The hero and his brother start out immediately, in spite of the protestations of the ladies, and we next find them before the Sphinx itself, which slides open at an appropriate moment to reveal the fair Ida Rubinstein, robed in midnight blue and scintillating jewels, reclining voluptuously upon a couch. After a long conversation—the play, by the way, is all in verse—the whippers her secret to the poet's brother, who falls dead at hearing it. The poet then is more anxious than ever to know it, and he listens, but lives.

Just what it was that Ida told the poet one does not learn; but, at any rate, we see him next in Rome, after a triumphant performance of his play. There are heartiest congratulations and handshaking behind the scenes; the poet stands alone, with the Sphinx in scenery only. But she calls again: "Venez, venez!" (Come, come!)

When the curtain falls, however, one is not sure whether he goes to her or to his charming "leading lady," sumptuously clad in a gown of tiger-skin.

Laud Police Chief on Lower Crime Report

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Chief of Police August Vollmer has been commended by members of the Los Angeles Crime Commission for the showing of the police department in its war upon crime during the month of March. All crimes except the theft of automobiles show a noticeable decrease over the February record.

According to the official reports there were 577 burglaries in March and 843 in the preceding month; 171 robberies reported in March and 189 in February; grand and petit larceny cases show a marked decrease.

Arrests also show a corresponding decrease in March over February. The total number of arrests for March were 4055, while the number taken into custody during February totaled 4061.

SLAIN DOCTOR CALLED ON CASE

Nervous Breakdown Led to Acquaintance of Pair Short Time Ago

For Southland News Service
LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Despite the fact that Mrs. Margaret Willis confessed the slaying of Dr. Benjamin Baldwin here last Friday, Mrs. Helen Baldwin, 20-year-old widow, declares today, as the police are reconstructing the events which led up to another "trunk murder" that "Mrs. Willis is a nice woman."

"Mrs. Baldwin is well rid of such a creature," declared Mrs. Willis, in an interview, "and I have done her a good service."

Called on Case
Mrs. Willis has been an ardent follower of Elsie Lincoln Benedict and studied the psychology of salesmanship by night while selling real estate and stocks and bonds by day. Her arduous duties, together with the long hours of night study, produced a nervous breakdown, she felt unconscious on the street and Dr. Baldwin was called, merely as the nearest physician, and she had never met him before. She had been well satisfied with him as a physician until recently when he began drinking heavily.

Baldwin had never shown her the slightest disrespect previous to the attack which led to the slaying, declared Mrs. Willis and she was surprised at his sudden love making, but paid little attention to it as she saw that he had been drinking. After he had made the first advances to her he left the room and she thought he had gone down the stairs where he was to give her first lesson in driving. She had bought the car, over which the quarrel is believed to have started, several days before.

Talked of Deal
Mrs. Helen Baldwin, widow of the murdered man, says that her husband and she had a long argument regarding the sale of the car and on Thursday they talked well into the night. She says her husband did not tell her at that time that he would not sell it for less than $1000.

Mrs. Willis declared that when Baldwin returned to the room, the argument regarding the sale of the car and the statements made to her left no doubt as to his purpose. In the same closet with her coat and hat was her revolver which she carried because of a physical handicap. She had her right arm mangled and burned in a mangle when she was a small child in Missouri, the state of her birth. She has only two fingers on her hand. She is a crack shot with her left, she says, and she pointed the pistol at Baldwin and told him that if he came a step further she would fire. He sprang at her suddenly, she claims. They grappled and fell, Mrs. Willis hitting him on the head, she says, twice before she shot him.

Does Not Regret It

"Thousands of women have killed men before to protect their honor," said Mrs. Willis, "and I am only being honest, am not heartless, when I say that I do not regret it. I would do the same thing again and any woman who has the right ideas of decency will do the same."

"I prepared myself to be a mother. Each time before my baby came I expected a girl and made beautiful blue layettes, but each time a boy came I made the resolution that that boy should never have cause to feel ashamed of his mother."

Willis First Husband
"Willis is the name of my first husband who died before 'Sonny' was born (he aiding with the disposing of the trunk, it is claimed by the police). I married my second husband a few months after Sonny's birth and have another boy nearly twelve. The five other children lived only a few months. Five years ago I divorced my second husband and took the name of my first, his being the name of my eldest son."

"It was to keep Sonny from finding out what was in that trunk that I knew it must be taken out of the house. It really belonged to Sonny and was bought to hold his radio set and ever, one is not sure whether he goes to her or to his charming 'leading lady,' sumptuously clad in a gown of tiger-skin."

"My grandfather was Matt Wilson, famous horse racer and breeder, Kentucky."

Yellow Butterflies Drift Through Country

TULARE, April 15.—Yellow butterflies in swarms reaching into many millions drifted through Tulare county northwards. The flight is the largest ever witnessed in this section. Reports that similar swarms passed through Los Angeles county two weeks ago render it probable that they come from the south.

J. R. Haskin, manager of a power company and local naturalist identified the travelers as belonging to the species known as Pyramela Cardui or "painted lady." He stated they were entirely harmless and but a few days old. They travel about twelve miles in the daytime and alight with darkness.

Hop Acreage Hops As Contracts Are Made; Prices High

SANTA ROSA, Cal., April 15.—Hops, a drug on the market last fall, were sought today at the record-breaking price of 31 cents a pound. Despite prohibition between 400 and 500 more acres of hops will be grown this year than ever before in Sonoma county and already 2,000,000 pounds are under contract for from one to three years at prices ranging from 20 to 24 cents.

MERCHANT SEES GROWTH OF CITY

Former Head of Chicago's Largest Store Visits Friends Here

Glendale had as a recent visitor John G. Shedd, formerly president of Marshall Field company of Chicago, who motored to Glendale from his winter home at 955 South Orange Grove avenue, Pasadena, to visit the H. S. Webb store on North Brand boulevard at Wilson avenue, and the E. C. Penderoy store on South Brand boulevard at Harvard street.

"I have watched the growth of Glendale with keen interest," said Mr. Shedd, "but I was not aware that the city had grown to such proportions. During the few months I spend each winter in Pasadena, I always hear considerable about the progress of Glendale, but the civic and business development that I have found upon this visit is almost inconceivable. Everybody and everything seems alive to the spirit of growth, and the city's future looks very bright. The same holds good for all of southern California. The growth of the southland is marvelous."

Business Associate Of H. S. Webb's Father

H. S. Webb, prominent Glendale merchant of North Brand boulevard, was most happy, on Saturday, to greet a visitor at his store, an old friend and business associate of his late father, A. D. Webb. John G. Shedd, formerly president of the Marshall Field company of Chicago, Ill.

Mr. Shedd is spending several months at his winter home in Pasadena at 955 South Orange Grove avenue.

Because of his friendship and association with Mr. Webb's father at the Marshall Field store in Chicago, Mr. Shedd was especially pleased to visit the new H. S. Webb store and note the business success of his friend's son.

COMMANDERY TO MARCH IN PARADE

Glendale Knights to Appear In Conclave Thursday At Pasadena

Glendale Commandery, No. 53, Knights Templar, will be well represented at the conclave being held in Pasadena this week when practically all of the members, under Eminent Commander Robert M. Grumbling, plan to march in the big parade Thursday afternoon.

The prize Glendale Scouts' band will accompany them to the Crown City. The local drill team will not participate in the competitive drill in the morning. As the squad has not been organized long enough to compete with the other crack teams entered.

The members will meet at the Masonic Temple on South Brand boulevard at 1 o'clock and proceed to Pasadena in cars. An effort is being made to have one hundred per cent of the membership make the trip.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TIN UMBRELLA

One day, as Uncle Wiggily was about to hop away from his hollow stump bungalow to seek an adventure, Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy called to him, saying:

"I wish you would bring me something from the store."

"I shall be delighted to do that—what do you want?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"If I tell you now you will be sure to forget," spoke Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "You will have some wonderful adventure and never think to bring what I tell you. But I have written it down on this piece of white birch bark. Put this piece of bark in your pocket and when you feel it there you will think of what I said. Then take the bark out, read what I have written and go to the store after it."

"That is a very good way to do," laughed Mr. Longears. "I will not need to remember anything, and I can much better look for an adventure. Goodbye, Nurse Jane."

He was about to hop down off the steps when the muskrat lady called:

"Aren't you going to take your umbrella? This is April and we may have a shower almost any moment."

"Oh, I think it isn't going to rain," laughed the bunny. "See how blue is the sky!"

Indeed the sky was very blue, with fleecy clouds floating across it like white ships on a blue sea.

"Well, as you like," said Nurse Jane, "but before the day is over you may wish you had taken an umbrella."

However, once Uncle Wiggily had made up his mind he never would change it, so along he hopped, over the fields and through the woods. In his pocket was the white piece of birch bark, and written on it was something Nurse Jane wanted him to bring from the store.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along, he heard a sad voice crying:

"Help! Oh, will some one please help me?"

"Yes, I will help you if you are not the Fox or the Wolf," said the rabbit.

"I am neither one nor the other," said the voice. "I am Mrs. Hop, the toad lady, and one of my legs is caught under a stone. Will you please help me pull it out?"

"Of course I will!" cried Mr. Longears in his most jolly voice. "But where are you?—I can't see you."

"I am under the big toadstool just back of you," was the answer. Turning, Uncle Wiggily saw Mrs. Hop, the toad lady, with one leg caught under a stone. She had slipped while jumping.

With a stick, the rabbit gentleman very gently raised up the stone, so that Mrs. Hop could pull out her leg. Then she thanked the bunny and hopped on.

"Well, that was one little adventure," thought Uncle Wiggily to himself, as he twinkled his pink nose. "But it was hardly enough. I must look for another."

He was about to hop on when, all of a sudden, he heard a rustling sound in the bushes.

"Perhaps this is the Bob Cat or Skilley Scallery Alligator coming," thought the rabbit. "If it is I shall have adventures in plenty."

He got ready to hop away, if it should be one of the bad chaps, but the bunny's heart did not beat so fast when he saw Mrs. Littletail, the rabbit mother of Sammie and Susie, coming along.

"Oh, Mrs. Littletail, I am very glad to see you!" cried Uncle Wiggily, and just as he said that, something fell with a splash on his pink nose.

"Oh, it's raining!" cried Mrs. Littletail, "and my new bonnet that I just bought at the seven and eight cent store will be spoiled! Oh, Uncle Wiggily, have you an umbrella?"

"No, I am sorry to say I have no umbrella," answered the bunny gentleman. "Nurse Jane told me to bring one, but, very foolishly, I didn't. However, if you will step under this big toadstool it will keep you dry."

Mrs. Littletail and Uncle Wiggily stood together under the toadstool, which was like an umbrella. The rain came down very hard.

"I can't stay here all afternoon!" said the rabbit lady. "I must get home. If I only had an umbrella! Can't you pull up the toadstool for me, Uncle Wiggily?"

The rabbit tried, but the toadstool broke when he tried to pull it up.

"Oh, now we are getting all wet!" cried Mrs. Littletail. Not knowing what to do, Uncle Wiggily put one paw in his pocket. He pulled out the birch bark Nurse Jane had given him. On it was written:

"Bring me a broom and a big tin dish pan."

"Oh, it's raining!" cried Mrs. Littletail.

"Hurray! I'll soon have an umbrella for you, Mrs. Littletail!" cried the bunny. He hopped away, the rabbit lady sheltering herself as best she could beneath the broken toadstool.

Uncle Wiggily hopped to the store and soon came back with a new broom and a big tin dish pan. He put the dishpan upside down on the end of the broom and held it over his head and over Mrs. Littletail.

"Hurray for my tin umbrella!" cried the bunny uncle. And under the dishpan he and Mrs. Littletail walked safely through the April shower, not getting a bit wet. Wasn't he a smart rabbit? For, even though he got wet running to get the dishpan, the rabbit lady was kept dry.

And if the hands of the clock don't reach down and tickle the pussy cat under the chin, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's fountain pen.

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl of 21, in love with a man of 31. He is very nice, everybody likes him, he has a wonderful character, and is young for his age. Do you think the difference in our ages is too great?

Your problem is not one of ages but of the individual. Some men are old at 31, just as some girls are more mature than others at 21. Other men, such as the one you refer to above, may be nearer 21 than 31 in every way but actual years, which mean little. By all means judge the man by his character and not by your difference in ages. Besides, it is a good idea, generally speaking, for the man to be several years older. When you are 31 and he is 41 you will realize how true this is.

JEALOUS HUSBAND
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married four years and have three children. I am only 20. My husband is good in every way except that he is insanely jealous. He imagines I love someone else better than him, which I absolutely do not. He has always been jealous but lately it has gotten terrible and is causing me to be very unhappy.

I am afraid he will cause me to hate him if he doesn't change as I am so true to him and do all my own house work, baking, etc., and am always home. He doesn't want me to have many friends for fear I might get acquainted with men. He is so jealous he won't even let me go shopping without all three children, for fear fellows will take me for a single girl, as I only look to be about 19.

Please tell me what to do to make him change as I love him and do not want to leave him. What causes him to be so jealous? Do you think if he accuses me again I had better leave?

UNHAPPY BUT FAITHFUL WIFE
It is very difficult to alter a person's nature, and, therefore, you better turn your efforts to getting along with your husband's disposition rather than to changing it. So many girls feel flattered when their sweethearts show jealousy, but after marriage they find that jealousy is far from an admirable quality in a man. I would advise you to try acting as you think best, and then steeling yourself to stand by your husband's consequent objections. Say very simply that you are true to him and love him and that you do not care to argue the matter. If you give up to him too much you will only increase his falling, while if he finds you ignore his feelings and do as you please, he is apt to adjust himself to your actions and feel that he has to make the best of it. To leave your husband would be a terrible thing. Therefore, I think you ought to put up with a great deal and to work for harmony in the home for the sake of the children. I do not believe, however, that you will gain any thing by catering to your husband's foolishness. When you know you are doing nothing wrong, go ahead with what you want to do. Jealousy is a quality which usually belongs to a person who refuses to use reason.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

By W. F. SULLIVAN,
For International News Service.

KANSAS CITY, April 14.—The greatest fight in many years will be made by States in the Middle West this year to have Congress adopt the big waterways improvement projects provided in the Newton bill.

The measure provides for the approximate expenditure of $74,000,000 in the next five years for improvement of navigation on the Ohio, Mississippi and Missouri rivers. The Mississippi River would be improved from its mouth to Minneapolis, the Ohio from its mouth to Pittsburgh and the Missouri up to the Quindaro Bend, at Kansas City.

Cities adjoining the Missouri River in seven States will attend the meeting to be held here on April 11 and 12 to lay plans to gain Congressional approval of the project at the present session.

Delegations already have been sent from many cities of this section to attend hearings on the bill of which Congressman Cleveland A. Newton, of St. Louis, is the author.

Agitation has been started to interest inland cities, as well as cities lying immediately adjacent to the rivers, to back the bill. Waterway improvement enthusiasts point out that the inland cities will benefit in long shipments where they can consign their products to nearby rivers of transportation and thence by water to their final destination.

Chambers of Commerce are leading the fight to awaken agricultural and business interests to the benefits that would be derived by the improvement of waterways in this part of the country.

The meeting here will take up for discussion that part of the bill providing for deepening the Missouri River channel from the Mississippi River to Kansas City. A proposal to improve the North Missouri will be taken up later.

National authorities on waterways development, and improvement will attend the Kansas City meeting and address the delegates.

Improvement of rivers is not being opposed by the railroads, it was pointed out, as not long ago L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific system, declared that from an economic standpoint it was necessary to develop all methods of transportation to the fullest in keeping with the development of the nation.

Development of the waterways, Baldwin says, will permit the railroads to give their best service. By improvements of the water systems and highways, railroads would be relieved of unnecessary congestion, he said.

Much freight of certain classes is now being handled by railroads to their discomfort, and improvements such as proposed in the Newton bill would open new channels through which such shipments could be diverted to the benefit of business in general.

The views of President Baldwin are believed to reflect the attitude of other railroad heads, and no organized opposition from the rail sources is anticipated.

Barge rates are approximately one-fifth lower than rail rates, but as the railroads are now pushed almost beyond their limits to handle perishable products and "rush" orders of goods they would be relieved of much of the unnecessary burden under which they now operate and still have sufficient business.

TRAINING

It has been repeated over and over that "the child is father of the man."

Training and environment are the reasons.

Arthur Schopenhauer, pessimist, has this to say about training:

"We know that man is in general superior to all other animals, and this is also the case in his capacity for being trained. Mohammedans are trained to pray with their faces turned toward Mecca, five times a day; and they never fail to do it. Christians are trained to cross themselves on certain occasions, to bow, and so on. Indeed, it may be said that religion is the chief d'oeuvre of the art of thinking, because it trains people in the way they shall think; and, as is well known, you cannot begin the process too early."

"There is no absurdity so palpable but that it may be firmly planted in the human head if you only begin to inculcate it before the age of five. By contrast with this, the training of a man of animals, so in that of men, trains are successful only when you begin in early youth."

"Noblemen and gentlemen are trained to hold nothing sacred but their word of honor—to maintain a zealous, rigid and unshaken belief in the ridiculous code of chivalry; and if they are called upon to do so, to seal their belief by dying for it, and seriously regard a king as a being of a higher order."

"Again, our expressions of politeness, the compliments we make, in particular, the respectful attentions we pay to ladies, are a matter of training, as also our esteem for good birth, rank, titles, and so on. Of the same character is the resentment we feel at any insult directed at us; and the measure of this resentment may be exactly determined by the nature of the insult. An Englishman, for instance, thinks it a deadly insult to be told he is no gentleman, or, still worse that he is a liar; a Frenchman has the same feeling if you call him a coward, and a German if you say he is stupid."

There are persons who are trained to be strictly honorable in regard to one particular matter, but they have little honor to boast of in anything else. That's the kind we use. Just like dousing your clothes up and down in clean, warm, mild suds. There are no suctions or new-fangled "swirling motions" to wear them out or tear them. They are literally soaked and patted clean. Even the most soiled garments receive this same harmless careful treatment just as you would wash your finest silks in your own home.

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.
Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

THE "MEDICAL TRUST"

Under the title, "The Medical Trust—A National Menace," I recently read the following in a well-known newspaper:

"We read much of the danger of trusts, but there is one trust of which little is written, yet it is more dangerous than any of the others, because while they perhaps jeopardize our possessions, this endangers our lives. I refer to the Medical Trust; that is, the control of the bodies of American People." Well, well! Someone's been reading my pieces, and he knows I'm a member of the Trust! Absolute control of your bodies. Yes, yes.

Seriously, all the bunk that was ever published, things like this are the bunkiest. You will find that they are always written by someone who belongs to or is interested in some short-cut-to-cure-all school of healing, one that is recruited from barbers, masseurs, mechanics, elevator operators, dressmakers, clerks, etc.—people who are doing good and honorable work in their own lines, but who are absolutely without the education and scientific training necessary to call themselves doctors and take the responsibility of human lives in their hands.

People who write such foolishness are very much afraid that the American Medical Association—this so-called "Medical Trust"—will succeed in getting passed that will make it impossible for them to pose as doctors unless they have the necessary training—a training as hard and as long as this so-called "Trust" expects of its own members.

Do you know what the minimum requirements of the American Medical Association are for a regular physician? I'll tell you. A high school education, or its equivalent; two years of academic work; four years of eight months each in a high class, accredited medical college, and one year's internship in a good sized accredited hospital—eleven years' training after the grammar school.

Further on in the article I quoted from, the claim was made that the American Medical Association was trying to limit the practice of healing to the "allopathic" school. There is no school of "allopathy." "Allopathy" means the curing of diseased action by inducing a different kind of action in the body. ("Homeopathy" means the curing by similar actions.) The term

"allopathy" is an obsolete term used by those who are ignorant of the fact that all known scientific and curative methods are used by the modern regular physician; homeopathy, allopathy, mechanotherapy, electrotherapy, diathermy, psychotherapy, hydrotherapy—any therapy of known value that will benefit the patient.

As for the regular profession desiring to limit the practice of healing to any one school, that is not true. It is simply the belief of physicians and others who give the matter any thought, that nobody should be permitted to undertake the grave responsibility of caring for the sick without high educational qualifications and professional training—as high as that considered indispensable in doctors of the regular medical school. We do not deny the right of the public to choose its healers where it will, but we believe the State should guarantee that the person who takes your life in his keeping should have a trained mind and be able to diagnose and to treat intelligently.

The relation of the physician to the public is comparable to that of no other profession. No trust is so sacred as the health and life of the individual and of the community. The time should come, and will come, when the standards for the fundamental education and for the professional training of all those who desire to assume this grave responsibility will be the same. Then the graduate can take special training if he desires to specialize in mechanotherapy, surgery or any other branch.

MRS. GEORGIA THOMAS and GEORGE THOMAS. An unusual story was told by Mrs. Thomas when she filed suit for divorce. Thomas denies her story. The matter will be fought out in the divorce court in Oklahoma, it is predicted.

TULSA, Okla., April 15.—An amazing story was told by Mrs. Georgia Thomas when she filed suit for divorce against George Thomas in court here.

She declared that her husband insisted that she disfigure herself permanently so that he would be free from jealousy and thus happier.

In a vain attempt to satisfy her husband, she said, she shot herself in the knee.

Thomas denies making any such request.

How Maple Pails Hang By Trees

Have you ever visited a sugar camp? On a moonlight night in the spring there is no more wonderful sight than the grove with a shining pail hanging from each tree, the bright fires glowing and the water going and coming with fresh supplies of this sweet water from the maple trees.

In the farm house near by the lights are beaming, and appetizing odors come from the kitchen. On the stove are kettles of maple syrup boiling for sugaring off. The wafting air is heating and the chicken is stewing in its gravy.

In the city we regale ourselves with the memories of the crisp, frosty spring nights and the fun of a sugaring-off party at the camp. Our thoughts cause us to write for a gallon or more of maple syrup, and several pounds of maple sugar. Then we do our best with city conditions to reproduce some of the delicious maple recipes.

Have you ever made maple sugar sandwiches? This is a Vermont specialty. Spread the bread with butter, then with soft or shaved maple sugar. Sprinkle with buttered meats or with crumbled bran. This makes a delicious tea sandwich.

Shaved maple sugar may be used on cereals instead of cane sugar. Try some on your Corn Flakes some morning.

Griddle cakes may be spread with butter and maple sugar and arranged in piles, then cut in pie-shaped pieces. Waffles are often served with soft maple sugar instead of maple syrup.

HOW TO GET RID OF WRINKLES

Crows' Feet and Lines Around Eyes and Mouth

The very first application of Howard's Buttermilk will astonish you. It's almost magical in the way it turns the dullest, most lifeless skins to radiant beauty and makes red, coarse skins smooth and of snowy whiteness, and, best of all, there isn't the slightest sign of its having been used. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

Of course you've got to follow the simple directions to get the best results, but only a few treatments will quickly prove to you that ordinary buttermilk in this concentrated form is still one of the best beauty treatments. Any drug and toilet goods counter will be glad to supply you or the money back if dissatisfied plan. Advertisement.

ANSWERED LETTERS

High School Junior—I agree with your mother. A girl of 15 should continue to wear her hair hanging and not do it up in those unbending coils, merely because the other girls in her class have adopted this arrangement of dressing their hair.

A. Y.—A red nose may usually be traced to imperfect elimination, and even if you do not recognize such a condition, it may exist. Try drinking at least eight glasses of water daily and eat fewer rich foods.

Mrs. R. R.—For a skin as dry as yours, use an olive oil soap, such as the best quality of castile. I cannot suggest the names of any creams, but I will be glad to send you a good cream formula if you wish to make it yourself. A pure rice powder would suit your skin. You can either buy it tinted or tint it yourself with a little carmine, suiting the shade to that of your skin.

Interested Reader—When the pores are as much enlarged as yours, it will take a long time and much care to refine the texture of the skin. One thing to do is to close the pores after every cleansing, either by dashing very cold water over the skin or by an ice rub. In your special treatments use an astringent made from one part white of egg to six parts water. Several times each week, in last rinse after bathing face and throat, add a drop or two of benzoin to a basin of water. Massage daily with cream, and take a full warm bath every day. This treatment will relieve the pores of the complexion.

Hazel—Your scalp troubles may easily result from sluggish condition of your system. Stop using the salve and try a tonic in which there is an alcoholic base. Build up your general health and form the habit of drinking plenty of water between meals.

Carl W.—Have your eyes examined and see if you are not in need of glasses. The eyestrain you are having is causing the lines, and with relief these will be lessened.

Massage a nourishing cream or olive oil into the lines on your neck and around the eyes. Very cold or very hot wet compresses laid over the eyelids will also give temporary relief when the eyes are aching from strain or from some condition of the system with which they are in sympathy.

Miss F. G.—A girl of 13 years, height four feet nine and a half inches, would be normal weight from 90 to 95 pounds.

Gloria L. T.—When lines appear in the skin of young people, it merely indicates they are a bit run down, and they will always disappear if the system is built up. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to have the eyelash formula mailed you, as it cannot be printed at this time. There is no way to make the lips thinner.

Tomorrow—Chapped Lips.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

At Local Theatres

THE GLENDALE

Baby Peggy in "The Darling of New York" continues as the leading attraction at the Glendale Theatre.

The tiny star, whose age is around four years, is cast as the central figure in a dramatic crook play and although she is surrounded by a grown-up cast of unusual merit, the ability of the adult performers does not detract from the artistry of the child. As a matter of fact, the very strength of the cast is an asset to the efforts of Peggy.

Baby Peggy is supported by a strong cast, which is made up almost of "character" actors. Most prominent in the supporting cast are Sheldon Lewis, Gladys Brockwell, Pat Hartigan and Carl Stockdale.

King Baggot directed the filming of the play.

As an added attraction at the Glendale Theatre during the run of Baby Peggy in "The Darling of New York," Rudolph Valentino appears in a carefully edited re-issue of his great success, "A Society Sensation."

Alpaca is one of the smartest materials for spring tailcoats.

THE GATEWAY

"Name the Man," adapted from Sir Hall Caine's "The Master of Men," continues as the feature at the Gateway Theatre. Of particular interest is the fact that it's one of the first pictures directed in America by Victor Seastrom, the Swedish director and one who is destined to become another Griffith if he isn't one already.

Goldwyn has made some mighty fine pictures but we doubt if this company has one in its vaults that surpasses this one for detail in story telling on the screen, acting and artistic directorial touches.

In addition, Charles F. Haynes, the eminent psychologist who has become the talk of Glendale, appears in person again at tonight's Gateway Theatre entertainment.

Russia has chartered 286 steamers in order to ship wheat to the United Kingdom, France and Mediterranean ports.

"Flea Fairs," which were once held in Paris, were similar to our Rummage Sales and now are called Rag Markets.

MAJOR LEAGUERS WILL SWING INTO CAMPAIGN TODAY

Many New Faces to Be Seen Under Big Tent When 1924 Season Opens

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Brooklyn at New York.
Boston at Philadelphia.
Pittsburgh at Cincinnati.
Chicago at St. Louis.
AMERICAN LEAGUE
New York at Boston.
Philadelphia at Washington.
St. Louis at Chicago.
Cleveland at Detroit.

Weather permitting, the sixteen major league clubs of the National and American leagues will swing into action today for the start of the 1924 season, which, according to present indications, will be the best ever experienced by the two organizations, judging from pre-season interest displayed.

The same wonderful recruits have been discovered in the training camps, and the same old faces will be seen in the line-up when the umpires call the game. Paradoxical as it may seem, however, more youngsters have managed to make the grade this year than for several seasons past. Especially is this true in the roster of pitchers that will be carried, until the time for the cut down comes, at any rate. The call from every manager has been for hurlers, hurlers, hurlers. They are frantically seeking fresh talent in an attempt to curb the heavy hitting of the past few seasons. Most of the outfields, and with but few exceptions, the infields are intact.

Bank on Jackson
Davey Bancroft will be in brave uniform, and his place will be taken by Travis Jackson. On his twenty-year-old boy, experts agree, depends to a large extent the chances of John McGraw in landing another pennant. If the youngster cracks he is gone. If he delivers the wizard may annex another flag.

Alleged experts practically all agree that the first three places in the National league will go to New York, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, and in the American League to New York, Detroit and Cleveland. They are widely apart when it comes to naming the order in which the clubs named will finish, the choice being about even. Pittsburgh, from performances on the coast this spring, appears to have a powerful club. But they have had powerful clubs before and somehow or other they cranked under the September strain. Cincinnati has the strongest defensive team in the majors, and a first-class string of hurlers. Coast fans will watch with interest the performances of Jackie May, of Vernon. The Giants do not seem, according to the scribes who have been with them on the training trip, to have their old-time zip. But it's a long time until October.

Everybody concedes that the Yankees have a hold already on their fourth consecutive American League pennant. With the best staff of pitchers in either league, and a murderer's row, they have the edge on all opponents. Cobb wants another pitcher and a second baseman. If he succeeds in landing them he should give the Yanks a fight.

This Speaker at Cleveland has rebuilt his team, and hopes to repeat his performance of 1920. He has a ball club that looks well on paper, and is figured by many as the dark horse of the campaign. Interest will be centered on the efforts of Babe Ruth to break his record of 59 home runs. It is probable that he will not be able to do this on account of the many passes he receives owing to his ability to bust the apple. He is said to be in the best shape of his career, and still profits, by the lessons of 1922. After being adjudged the most valuable player in the American league in 1923, Ruth is hoped to repeat his creditable work this year.

Three Are Suspended For Row on Diamond

The San Francisco and Portland baseball clubs were hit yesterday by the ruling of President Harry Williams of the Coast League who suspended Eddie Mulligan and Dee Walsh of the Seals and Manager "Duke" Kenworthy of the Beavers for indulging in a fist fight last Saturday at San Francisco.

Mulligan and Kenworthy, who started the argument which ended when Kenworthy was knocked down for the count, drew one day's rest apiece. Walsh was given two days for repentance because he butted in on the scrap.

The Coast League prexy announced that future similar affairs would draw much heavier punishment.

TIGERS, ANGELS IN FIRST GAME

Open Second Week of Coast League at Washington
Park Today

The second week of the Coast League season gets under way today, with the scene shifted over the week-end. Local interest centers on the opening battle at Washington park, where Bill Essick's Vernon Tigers, fresh from their five victories over the Solons at Sacramento last week, will be at home to Marty Krug's Angels, who won the same number from Seattle.

The game today will have nature of a second opening. The frills will be lacking for the major part, but the Vernon supporters are planning to give their favorites a big send off. Frank Kerwin, secretary of the Southern California baseball manager's association, has arranged a Jimmy McDowell day, and the seats in section A of the grand stand have been reserved for local and out-of-town fans, who idolized the Vernon player when he cavorted in the semi-pro ranks here.

The fact that the Tigers have been entirely rebuilt during the winter and are recognized by many experts as leading contenders for the pennant will draw a large crowd, it is estimated. The old razz that has been dormant for several years between the supporters of the two clubs is expected to come to life with a new fury today, as the clubs meet with the same percentage in the league standing.

Krug expects to start Elmer Myers, obtained from Salt Lake, with Josh Billings doing the receiving. Myers did not win his game against Seattle, but hopes to break the ice today. Ken Penner will serve the slants for the Tigers, Truck Hannah catching. The attendance of 11,000 the opening day last week is expected to be exceeded by the park officials. Celebrities galore will be on hand, and with perfect weather, a great game is looked for.

Sign Haskell Indians For California Game

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—A. E. Santweir, Hollywood promoter, well known in the sporting world, announced that he had signed contracts with the Haskell Indian football team to play an eastern college in Los Angeles at the stadium or at the Pasadena Tournament of Roses bowl, some time between Thanksgiving and Christmas. Santweir last year promoted the Haskell-Olympic game.

FIGHT RESULTS

AT NEW YORK.—Tony Varacelli, New York, won decision over Mickey Brown, New York, ten.

AT PHILADELPHIA.—Yong Subling of Macon, Ga., scored technical knockout against Tex McEwan of Canada, seven rounds.

AT PITTSBURGH.—Pete Selvie outpointed Johnny Moore, both of Pittsburgh, ten rounds.

AT MUSKOGEE, Mich.—Bud Gorman, Racine, Wis., bested Sailor Tom Maxted of New York in ten rounds.

Rumors, Denials, Alibis

By F. A. GRAHAM

By Southland News Service.
All prospects of a bout between Dempsey and Willis, Firpo or Gibbons are all off, like a Boy Scout in swimming, Eddie "Stew" Mulligan, San Francisco third sacker, slapped the Iron Duke of Portland for a mile of street car rails, taking the iron out of Duke. Casey and Carroll refereed. The police did the counting.

This gives "Stew" Mulligan the place of honor on Dempsey's menu. It's been a long time since Jack graduated from the beaneries but he will probably gobble this dish and call for a second helping.

The Iron Duke was a double-entry bookkeeper before he got web footed and joined the Portland Ducks. He reverted to type in the debate with Mulligan and made two entries. One to the ball grounds and one to the hospital. That's a rumor.

Other Ducks quack that it's all the sauce of apples, the Duke having returned twenty years ago from fighting anybody but relatives. That's a denial.

The Duck's trainer says the Duke didn't have his raisins that day and was shy on iron. That's an alibi.

But "Stew" is no dimple nurer. He's hard. If he was a paper hanger, all lions dens would be beautifully decorated. He lost his cigar lighter when Vesuvius went out.

The horsehide-bound public is waiting feverishly for Tex Rickard to make the next move.

Chance Will Not See Opening Game Today

CHICAGO, April 15.—Fate, in the form of a severe cold, will keep Frank Chance from attending the opening game today of the Chicago White Sox, of which he is manager, and the St. Louis Browns. Chance went to Mercy Hospital yesterday until he is recovered.

Chance, who was unable to be with the team during spring training because of his illness in California, returned here to see the Sox opening game and take charge. He developed a cold of such proportions that physicians ordered him to the hospital.

First Week Batting Honors Go to Baker

Dell Baker of Oakland took batting honors in the Pacific Coast league for the first week with an average of .833 for the twelve times he batted. Manager Duffy Lewis went to the plate 16 times for an average of .633 and Manager Bert Ellison of the Seals set an example for his men with an average of .632 for 19 times at bat. Lindimore and Frederick of Salt Lake each batted 22 times for averages of .545.

TRACK STARS ARE GUESTS OF CITY

Illinois Athletes, Bound for Meet With Bears,
Look Over City

Several carloads of excited youths were shown around "The Fastest Growing City in America" this afternoon, the same being the members of the Illinois track squad, taking a lay-off on their trip to Berkeley, where they meet the Golden Bears in a dual track meet Saturday afternoon. Other cities visited were Pasadena, Alhambra, Flintridge and Hollywood. The squad is chaperoned by Harry Gill, and boasts several world's champions and near-champions.

After the sightseeing trip they returned to the Coliseum in Los Angeles and went through limbering-up exercises. Interest centered in the performance of Milton Angier, record holder of the javelin throw with a heave of 203 feet 9 inches; Dean Bromwell, world's champion indoor pole vaulter, who gained his latest laurels in the Big Ten indoor meet, when he cleared the bar at 13 feet 9/16 inch; Dan Kinsey, joint holder of the world's indoor record of 9 1/2 seconds in the 75-yard high hurdles, and Fred Shildauer, all-around star weight man.

After the workout they will return to their two special coaches and continue their journey to Berkeley, where they will be the guests of the university. On the way home they will participate in the Drake relays, where they expect to place high.

Sport Snap Shots

By JACK KEENE

The Army eleven probably will have a new generalissimo next fall, according to word from West Point. Capt. John J. McEwen, who has been head coach of the squad since Major Daly resigned a year ago, has just been ordered to foreign service and will not return to the U. S. in time to direct the grid activities next season, it is reported. Such being the case it is considered probable that Daly, successful coach of the team from 1913 to 1922, will be asked to resume his old duties. McEwen, after playing with the Soldier Boys from 1913 to 1916, was named assistant to Daly and served in that capacity until a year ago.

When a ball player looks under his pillow nowadays all he finds is that the sheets ought to be changed.

New football rules promulgated at a recent meeting in New York will result in speedier gridiron contests.

Tex Rickard will promote no bouts in New York after the closing show May 9 until the indoor season reopens.

TWO PROPOSALS ON MITT CARDS ARE SUBMITTED

American Legion Executive Committee Hears Offers
Of Kerwin, Unger

By AL DIX,

Of The Evening News Staff.
Frank Kerwin, owner of the Glendale White Sox baseball park on San Fernando road, and Ben Unger, of Los Angeles, representing a syndicate of capitalists who are ready to sign a long time lease for the W. T. Jefferson property on Los Feliz road near San Fernando road, yesterday tendered their propositions to the executive committee of Glendale post No. 127 of the American Legion regarding the boxing program which the post has under contemplation, at a luncheon held at the Egyptian Village.

W. H. Reeves, chairman of the executive committee, presided. Others in attendance were Chalmers D. Day, G. L. Kaeding, J. H. Wittmeyer, L. D. Fish, A. E. Bryan, J. F. McClish, Frank Kerwin, W. T. Jefferson, Ben Unger, E. E. McWain and the writer.

Propositions Differ

The two propositions, although each looking toward boxing on a high scale for Glendale, differed somewhat in the manner the promoters intended to carry out the scheme. Kerwin's proposal, made for several men of national renown, whose names he did not want to make public until the proposition had been gone over, carried with it the erection of an outdoor arena at the White Sox park with a seating capacity of 20,000.

The men he represented intended to stage the first show soon after Decoration Day. The first Saturday following, in the afternoon, was the date set. Such fighters as Floyd Johnson, Harry Greb, Bartley Madden, Bert Colima, Phil Salvadore and other top notchers would be carded. He stated that the show had the sanction of the fight promoters in Los Angeles. In fact, he said, they were very favorable toward it.

Stadium Suggested

The proposal of Dr. Jefferson and Mr. Unger was of a more stable character, looking to the future rather than the present. If their proposals meet with the approval of the Legion, they intend to erect, they said, one of the finest buildings in the city on Mr. Jefferson's property, the cost being approximately $100,000. The plans called for the erection of 16 stories along the front of the property, with a stadium seating 7,000 in the rear of the lots. The entrance to the stadium would be a massive arch of Egyptian design, and would be a great civic improvement, they believed.

They intended to make the stadium available for conventions, meetings, and such gatherings as grand opera or attractions of that character would bring out, and argued strongly that the more permanent character of their proposition would meet with the approval of the citizens. They objected to the staging of the boxing show at the ball park under the name of the Legion, and asked that no shows be staged until the new stadium was ready.

Legion To Control

Mr. Unger announced that he had secured the services of Jack Kanier, former star of the Stockyards stadium in Denver, Colo., as matchmaker and that complete control of the character of the bouts would be in the hands of a committee appointed by the Legion.

After considerable discussion the interested parties withdrew, and the executive committee drew up and passed a resolution which provided that all propositions be submitted at an early date, accompanied by a certified check for $2,500 as a guarantee of good faith. Mr. Kerwin and Mr. Unger were notified accordingly.

Mr. Jefferson and the American Legion members have for over six months been trying to get together on a proposition of this kind. He brought with him to the meeting a drawing of the building Mr. Unger and his associates planned to erect, and pointed out the great value it would be to Glendale and the American Legion in particular to have this monument stand on Los Feliz and San Fernando roads where thousands of cars pass daily.

Will Post Check

Kerwin at one stage of the proceedings agreed to withdraw his proposal altogether in view of the fact that he did not want to jeopardize the Legion's chance toward obtaining a fine stadium of the kind Mr. Unger said he would build, and in the face of Mr. Unger's objections to staging a show previous to the completion of the stadium.

Later Kerwin entered the field again and stated as he left he intended to post a check.

FINANCIAL BRIEFS

By Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, April 15—Oil production in the Los Angeles basin averaged 379,800 barrels daily for the week ended April 12 against 380,600 for the preceding week. Torrance field produced 55,000 barrels daily, increasing 1,600 barrels over average in week ended April 5. Small losses occurred in other fields. Long Beach averaged 139,450 barrels daily against 190,600 daily in the preceding week. Santa Fe 80,950 daily against 81,300 and Huntington Beach 54,400 a day against 55,300. Torrance field got only six out of the twenty new wells started last week. The rest were scattered throughout practically every field in Southern California.

Pacific Gas and Electric is preparing to float a bond issue of $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 next week through an underwriting syndicate which includes the National City company; E. H. Rollins and sons, and the Mercantile Securities company. This news was somewhat of a surprise as financing through sale of common stock only had been expected.

Orders received by the General Electric company for the quarters ended March 31 totaled $73,487,903 according to President Swope. This is a decrease of 8 per cent over the first quarter of 1923 when orders aggregated $80,010,045 and decrease of $964,539 from final quarter of last year.

According to dispatches received from Gray Silver, Washington representative in the American Farm Bureau Federation, efforts are being made to increase parcel post rates three times and also to increase the rate on fourth-class matter. Such an increase would fall heavily on the farmer and the resident on the rural communities, and is being fought to strongly by agricultural interests. The increase is being suddenly urged in advance of the exhaustive report now being studied by the post-office department on the cost of handling mail. A half million dollars was spent in making this survey. The present bill has been prepared without any consideration to the findings of the investigating board.

At the invitation of the executive committee of the citrus growers' department of the Los Angeles county farm bureau, representatives of the several Southern California counties met recently to discuss tentative plans for the inauguration of an inter-county citrus growers' department of the farm bureau. Walnut grove and poultry raising have had inter-county departments for some time. The new organization will work on citrus problems common to the industry regardless of county lines. Pest control and quarantine measures will be particularly emphasized as well as other cultural problems and legislative action. It is planned to launch the organization of the citrus institute to be held this coming summer.

The executive committee of the citrus growers' department of the Los Angeles county farm bureau endorsed the county flood control bonds to be voted on May 6, and requested the board of directors of the Los Angeles county farm bureau to take similar action at its next meeting.

FRUIT MEN MEET

By Southland News Service

A representative group of deciduous fruit growers met in the banquet room of the Holly market at aVn Nuys recently to discuss the organization of deciduous fruit growers of the San Fernando valley into one deciduous fruit growers' center of the Farm Bureau for this district. The meeting was presided over by W. S. Rosecrans, secretary of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau. Among those taking part in the formulation of the plans were Mark Grimes, I. S. Granger, John Russell, H. H. A. Hastings, N. T. Ruiz and S. E. Goodall, of Owensmouth, Los Angeles county representatives in the California State Farm Bureau federation.

The organization of such a center is in accord with the plan of the oCounty Farm Bureau to organize deciduous fruit growers with definite commodity programs to be conducted in co-operation with the Agricultural Extension Service.

The care of orchards in subdivided areas was particularly discussed, such conditions become a detriment to the further development of the valley. Orcharding will be the primary industry of the valley for a long time to come, it was pointed out.

An enlarged growers' committee has been arranged, and will meet at dinner Friday, April 18, at 6:30 o'clock, to complete arrangements for the organization and lay out plans for a membership drive.

CHICAGO WHEAT

By International News Service

CHICAGO, April 15—Although all the news on hand, mostly foreign, was bullish in tone, wheat displayed no strength today. A short yield in India was indicated and it is believed the Australian crop has been greatly overestimated. At the close wheat was unchanged to 1-2 lower; corn 1-2 off and oats 1-8 to 3-8 down.

Gibraltar has a population of 19,000 civilians.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By International News Service

NEW YORK, April 15—The stock market closed irregular today. Acceptance by England of the Dawes report was practically ignored as a market factor, excepting in the copper and shipping shares, which showed independent strength.

American Smelting rose 1/4, to 59 1/2. Rallying tendencies became more pronounced in the final dealings, especially in the independent steels. Bethlehem Steel at 49 1/2 and Republic at 46 were up 1 1/2 points. Gulf States rose nearly 2 points, to 68, and United States Steel 1 1/2, to 97 1/2.

Motor accessories, tires and rubbers showed pronounced weakness. United States Rubber lost over 1 point, to 26 1/2; Kelly-Springfield nearly 1 point, to 13 1/2, and Stewart-Warner 1/2, to 14 1/2. Rails held steady. Oils, although fairly steady, showed fractional losses.

Government bonds, unchanged; railway and other bonds, irregular. Stock sales today, 951,700 shares; bonds, $13,009,000.

L. A. EXCHANGE

By Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, April 15—The local market was depressed today with oils headed downward. U. S. Royalties that had a high yesterday of 2 1/2 and a high of 25 opened this morning at 22 and at 11 o'clock had declined to 20 cents a share.

Edison common was holding its own at $103 with bidding fairly heavy. After several days of inactivity, bank stocks were moving today. Merchants National opened at $200. In the mining stocks Virginia Louise maintained yesterday's advance at 22.

Los Angeles Investment, which made a sensational raise yesterday to $4.46 and then declined to $4.44, slumped to an open today of $4.39. No reason could be assigned by members of the exchange for the drop. The stock was no indication at 11 o'clock that the stock would again advance to yesterday's high point.

TRIAL OF CHRIST

IS SERMON TOPIC

Rev. Kringle Contrasts Two Kinds of Judgments, Heaven and Earth

The difference between the condemnation of Jesus Christ in the earthly court from that in the heavenly court was analyzed by Rev. Henry O. Kringle in his sermon at the Zion Lutheran church Sunday morning.

"Jesus of Nazareth was condemned to death in two courts," he said, "an earthly and a heavenly court. The human and the divine judgment pronounced on Jesus correspond in part; and in part they differ widely. Let me first mention the human sentence pronounced on Him.

"Like a criminal and with criminals Jesus was crucified on mount Calvary. But what judgment had brought Him there? Why, a judgment of the most glaring injustice, wickedness and malice. His judges lied. Jesus was not guilty. He was innocent, even as one of His judges, Pilate, the highest authority in the province of Judea, had publicly declared before pronouncing the sentence of death upon Him.

Affirmed Fact
"What were the crimes of which they accused Him? When the high priest in the council adjudged Jesus to tell them whether He be the Christ, the Son of God, and Jesus affirmed it, then the high priest rent his garments, pronounced Jesus guilty of blasphemy and with one accord they condemned Him to death. When Jesus said, 'I am the Son of God,' he was simply giving utterance to a fact which He had publicly demonstrated before all the people with innumerable miracles.

"What cared the council for that?"
"And what was the divine judgment against Christ? Heaven and earth, God and men were against the innocent Nazarene. Where is the key to the divine judgment? St. Paul supplies it with the words, 'God made Him to be sin for us who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him.'

Perfect Justice
"Is God unjust? How can God condemn Him who was Holy and knew no sin? How can God condemn His only Son? Is that justice? To understand this divine judgment, as far as we must mark well two little words in the passage, 'for us.' God hath made Him to be sin for us. The last two words tell us that though men condemned Jesus with glaring injustice, God sentenced Him to death with perfect justice. He had not sinned, but others had and Jesus volunteered to take the place of the others, to take their sin upon Him. The blood of Christ, His sin, cleanseth us from all sin."

Let us not look upon the transaction as a judgment of God in Jerusalem, and on Mount Calvary as unbelievers who see nothing more in it than a saintly man put to death mercilessly. We must bear well in mind, that on Calvary a divine judgment was held; there our sins were judged; well two little words in the passage, 'for us.' God hath made Him to be sin for us. The last two words tell us that though men condemned Jesus with glaring injustice, God sentenced Him to death with perfect justice. He had not sinned, but others had and Jesus volunteered to take the place of the others, to take their sin upon Him. The blood of Christ, His sin, cleanseth us from all sin."

Let us not look upon the transaction as a judgment of God in Jerusalem, and on Mount Calvary as unbelievers who see nothing more in it than a saintly man put to death mercilessly. We must bear well in mind, that on Calvary a divine judgment was held; there our sins were judged; well two little words in the passage, 'for us.' God hath made Him to be sin for us. The last two words tell us that though men condemned Jesus with glaring injustice, God sentenced Him to death with perfect justice. He had not sinned, but others had and Jesus volunteered to take the place of the others, to take their sin upon Him. The blood of Christ, His sin, cleanseth us from all sin."

GLENDAL WOMAN TO ADDRESS CLUB

Mrs. Montgomery Asked to Speak on Methods of Raising Funds

The name and fame of Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice-president and chairman of ways and means of the Tuesday Afternoon club, has become so well known to club women of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's clubs, that she has been asked to speak Thursday in Los Angeles at a conference of federation secretaries of the district.

Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer, first vice-president of the district and chairman of federation extension, has arranged the conference and in inviting Mrs. Montgomery to speak, she says, "The wizard of finance must be with us to help us in planning money raising methods for help in individual clubs."

Mrs. Montgomery will speak on "How to Make Money."

Special turkey dinner $1 Thursday, April 17, Foltz Cafe, 1150 No. Central Ave. Phone Glen. 2573-W.—Advertisement. 4/15.

Why I Came To Glendale

I sought a place to practice dentistry and a fitting home for my wife and three growing children.

I located in Glendale after two months of investigation visiting sections of Los Angeles proper and neighboring towns. Each day of that time I spent examining Commercial Club reports, crime history, educational facilities, growth statistics, health and moral environments, the progress of others already established in my vocation, and paid particular attention in all places to the "home spirit" as a community whole.

After traveling several thousand miles and devoting myself exclusively to the proposition, Glendale made my decision easy, and after four months of business and home life here we do not regret. Even now, during that serious time when one is building a business, no other town, no other community has the business and home appeal as does Glendale, founded and maintained on high ideals, resulting in THE FASTEST GROWING CITY.

Oratorio Singers to Honor Play Director

All those who took part in the recent production of the oratorio, "Elijah," given under the auspices of the Glendale Music club, are to honor their director, John Smallman, at a reception tonight at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

The affair will be held in the banquet room of the clubhouse at 8 o'clock. Features will be a program and final report on the financial success of the oratorio production.

CLUB WILL GIVE SACRED CONCERT

Madrigal Artists to Sing
Good Friday Night at St. Mark's Church

A sacred concert is to be given the night of Good Friday at St. Mark's Episcopal church, South Louise and East Harvard streets, by the Madrigal club. It will begin at 7:30 o'clock, with Anna Littlefield and Flora Kilpatrick, vocalists, and Miss Lilla Litch, organist, as soloists.

Rehearsal for the concert was held at the church yesterday under the direction of Mrs. Charles A. Parker.

The Madrigal members are also preparing for their concert May 15 at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, when John Smallman will be soloist. Only a limited number of tickets will be on sale for this event.

The next rehearsal of the club will be at 1:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon, at the Congregational church.

EIGHTEEN STREET JOBS COMPLETED

City Engineer's Report for First Quarter of Year
Shows Costs

Eighteen contracts for street improvement were completed in the city of Glendale during the first quarter of 1924, according to a report filed by Ben S. Dupuy, city engineer, with V. B. Stone, city manager, this morning. The report covers the period from January 1 to March 31, and shows that during that time there was a total expenditure represented in the completed work of $323,505.90.

The eighteen jobs completed and the cost of each are as follows:

Job	Total Cost
Chilton and Bellevue (water pipe)	7,055.85
Stanley Avenue	7,512.18
Hillside Drive	4,894.49
Kenneth Road and Sonora Avenue	17,025.65
Railroad Street	6,862.56
Luton Drive (water pipe)	1,312.18
Raymond Avenue	8,232.85
Brand Boulevard (side-walk)	376.78
Windsor Road, Garfield and Acacia Avenues	28,554.57
Glenwood Road and other Streets	106,873.96
Fourth Street, Winchester and Justin Avenues	26,124.62
Alameda Avenue	30,654.47
San Fernando Road (water pipe)	5,578.28
Cerritos Avenue	3,924.02
Windsor Road	5,608.24
Garfield Avenue, Windsor Road and Los Angeles Street	17,587.28
Thompson Avenue	7,174.01
Watson Court	14,693.18
Total	$323,505.90

The total cost of printing and advertising on these contracts was $1488.89, or .46 per cent. The cost of engineering and assessment work was $17,766.77, or 5.49 per cent.

Actual Work Done
Getting down to the actual work done, the improvements include the following items:

16,370.83 lineal feet of curb or 11.43 miles.
49,802.00 square feet of gutter or 4.7 miles, average width 2 feet.
156,432.20 square feet sidewalk or 7.44 miles, width 5 feet.
1,217,379.80 square feet macadam or 6.78 miles, average width, 34 feet.
18,117.00 square feet cement concrete.

Approximately 10 1/4 miles of 4, 6, and 8 inch water pipe, at a cost of $63,842.20.
The following streets have been opened or widened: Howard street, at Broadway, $13,432.15; Mariposa street, between Palmer avenue and Cypress street, $3,068.96; and Raleigh street, from Cedar to Adams, $12,373.13.

Hollander Acquires Floral Shop In City

Corn B. Cardien has taken over the floral shop formerly operated as the American Florists at 1444 East Colorado street. Mr. Cardien is a native of Holland and like most horticulturists from the picturesque land of canals is a pronounced authority on bulbs. A complete stock of vegetable and floral plants, trees, ornamental shrubbery, potted and cut flowers is being carried. It is furthermore planned to make the shop local headquarters for direct imported Holland bulbs.

Plan Innovation for Presbyterian Church

An innovation at the Wednesday night meeting at the Tropic Presbyterian church at the corner of Laurel and Central avenues will be the organization of a discussion group. The topic Wednesday night will be "Four Days in Christ's Life Before His Crucifixion." Rev. Harold Shaffer will direct the meeting, in the absence of Dr. Winnard.
